Okanagan Flood Control Project

New Steel And Concrete Dams To Control Lakes

BY VINCE DUGGAN

First step in the massive plan to harness and control the lake and river system in the Okanagan, fed by tributaries and freshets and extending on a tortuous trail from the mouth of Okanagan river to its confluence with the Columbia river near Brewster, Wash., is near completion. It is known as section A of the overall Okanagan Flood Control Project.

Ernest Smith, divisional engineer in charge of the plan, explains that it actually commences at the intake channel, 1200 feet from the shores of Lake Okanagan. Next step is Pentiction dam, then the new channel to Skaha Lake, the Skaha Lake control dam and the new channel at Okanagan Falls.

First Phase About Third Of Job

Mr. Smith, who was brought back from retirement to supervise the job, said many people seemed to feel that because this section is nearing completion, the entire system will soon be under control.

"But that is incorrect," he pointed out. "This first phase is only about one-third of the job from here to the border, and there is also the American side as far as Brewster."

Mr. Smith estimates the entire project will be completed sometime in 1955. That will include section A; a new channel from Okanagan Falls to Vaseux Lake, for which tenders are being called next month; reconstruction of Oliver dam and a new channel to Osoyoos Lake. From this point at the border, American engineers take over and will complete the work to Brewster. When it is finished, Canada's contribution to the scheme will have cost well over three million dollars.

Reviewing the work now nearing completion, Mr. Smith said, "It starts at the intake channel

Ernest Smith, divisional engineer for the Okanagan flood control project, will shortly retire for a second time to his Burnaby home. After a lengthy career, he retired from government service only to be pressed into work on the Fraser Valley dike control project at the time of the disastrous 1948 floods.

He came to Pentiction in 1948 to lay the ground work for the Okanagan flood control, but with the professional intention of staying for only one year. The one year has become four.

He will be succeeded by Frank J. Clark.

1200 feet from the shore of Okanagan Lake. That is well underway. Concrete, at Pentiction dam is laid, the gates are in place, and the discharge channel, including rock paving for 400 feet, is practically completed.

"The water still follows the old river bed, to a point near Belkhardt avenue bridge, where it is diverted into the new channel and on to Skaha Lake. At Okanagan Falls, approximately one-third of the new concrete dam has been constructed and three gates there are accommodating the full river flow. The concrete work is proceeding on the unfinished portion of the dam and good progress is being made."

Ald. Hunt, Harris, Haddleton Will Not Seek Re-Election; Mayor Rathbun Undecided

Pentiction's 1954 City Council will have at least a 50 percent new look. The three H's, Aldermen Wilson Hunt, J. G. Harris and W. D. Haddleton announced today that they do not intend to seek re-election in the December civic elections.

WISMER MAY ATTEND TRIAL

Hearing of false pretenses charges against James Laverne Murray, Kelowna, and Fred J. Armitage, Calgary, originally set for October 27, has been adjourned until November 16.

It is understood that Gordon S. Wismer, Q.C. former attorney general, will act for Armitage and the adjournment was requested so that Mr. Wismer will have an opportunity to study files before the trial.

The case, scheduled to be heard before Judge M. C. Colquhoun, involves alleged obtaining of a certified cheque for $5000 from Oliver Chemical Co. Ltd., for investment in Hansard Spruce Mills Ltd.

Preliminary hearing on a second charge will be heard immediately following the first case. A. D. C. Washington is counsel for the crown.

Mayor W. A. Rathbun, whose term of office also expires at the end of the year, is at present undecided, although it is expected that the chief magistrate will seek a third term.

In telephone communication with The Herald from Vancouver this morning, the Mayor, who is attending the annual UBC CM convention, stated he is giving the matter serious thought.

"FEELING FINE" Possibility that the mayor's recent illness would lead him to retire from the civic arena was discounted by His Worship today. "I'm feeling fine," the mayor said, "but as yet have not reached a decision on whether or not to run again."

"I deeply regret that the three retiring aldermen have decided not to run again," the mayor continued. "They have performed notable service for the city and, regardless of who sits on the 1954 council, the experience and sense of responsibility which Aldermen Hunt, Haddleton and Harris brought to their duties, will be sorely missed."

All three retiring aldermen gave as their reasons for resigning, pressure of their own businesses. Apart from that, they feel after four years of service it is time new blood was introduced.

ELECTED IN 1950 The three were elected to council in 1950 along with Mayor Rathbun and Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh and have constituted a team ever since.

Alderman Titchmarsh will be the senior alderman in 1954 with Alderman F. C. Christian and Alderman J. G. Harris remaining of the old guard.

Announcement of the three H's impending retirement from civic affairs is expected to galvanize the respective ratepayers' associations into immediate action.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT COUNCIL MEETS SATURDAY

Regular monthly meeting of Southern District Council, BCF GA, will be held on Saturday. The meeting has been called for the Hotel Prince Charles at 2:30 p.m.

Pentiction firefighters snuffed out a bad chimney fire at the Baptist manse, 464 Martin street, last Friday. Damage was of a minor nature.

First Community Concert

Longines Symphonette Thrill For Music Lovers

The hard working committees of the Community Concert Association of Pentiction may well feel justly proud today. Last night's performance by the Longines Symphonette, and the enthusiastic capacity crowd in the High School Auditorium, added to one of the finest tributes to good music that this city has seen in a long, long time.

Twenty-five musicians made a lot of music in just two hours, and if there were any errors or omissions in that time, we certainly neglected to detect them.

The Overture, "The Marriage of Figaro," by Mozart, was a thrilling commencement and the Bach Choral Prelude, "Sleepers Awake," was majestic. Symphonie No. 54 by the contemporary composer Don Gillis set everyone swaying to modern rhythms with the woodwinds and the rhythm section of the ensemble in outstanding form.

So enthusiastic was the response to this number that the audience responded to each movement rather than holding their breath until the conclusion, as is customary.

"Adagio for Strings" by Samuel Barber, another contemporary composer, we felt was one of the highlights of the entire concert, with the pure tones of the strings blending in perfect harmony and each section bringing forth its own melody, then the thrilling climax, and finally the dying away to a beautiful

Sweet Find By Electrical Workers At Summerland

SUMMERLAND — Electrical superintendent, George Graham, and members of his department Gordon Blewett, A. McCargar, A. Rutherford and Roy Darke, assisting had an unexpected dividend on Friday.

They set out to cut down three big old pine trees opposite the home of T. W. Boothe just below Jones' Flat. One of the trees was hollow and hundreds of bees buzzed in and out of it. On Thursday evening, Mr. Graham put cyanide gas into the opening to destroy the swarm living there so that the tree could be felled on Friday morning.

Felled it was, and the long cylinder was found to be full of honey for a space of about eight feet. The log was cut into two foot lengths, then these were split, and the honey extracted. It was clear as crystal, sealed in a natural comb, and when weighed the treasure was sixty-six and a half pounds. There had been more, too, but early Friday morning someone had taken bits out, and late that evening after the crew left without completely cleaning out the hollow, the rest was removed by unknown persons, so it is thought there may have been seventy pounds in all.

Council's High Financing

Dollars Saved City Taxpayers

Bylaws submitted to City Council by its finance committee usually cost taxpayers money, but a bylaw submitted for council approval on Monday night was culmination of a piece of financial juggling which has already saved Pentiction taxpayers $10,000 and which, over the years, will result in a gross saving of $176,293.

Bylaw 1194, Sewer Loan

Amendment Bylaw, was given its initial reading on Monday night and received the enthusiastic endorsement of City Council, and the finance committee was commended by Acting Mayor Wilson Hunt for "its vision" and council, as a whole, received a pat on the back for "its faith in the city's future, demonstrated when it originally backed the finance committee's plan which has resulted in saving the city a lot of money."

Taxpayers last year authorized the borrowing of $260,000 to complete the city's sewer program. Investment brokers were not too enthusiastic in bidding on the debentures.

Finance committee chairman Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh, recommended waiting.

In the meantime tenders were called and council was delighted to receive a much lower bid than had been expected for completion of the sewer project.

Council, it transpired, was authorized to borrow $85,000 more than required for the sewer contract.

Then, Alderman Titchmarsh, unhappy over the low bids for the city's debentures, decided to see if the city could finance the deal through the banks. The Bank of Montreal, Alderman Titchmarsh reported to council Monday night, was exceedingly co-operative. The deal was made, the sewer project financed through the bank, all this to the tune of taxpayers' dollars, present and future, jangling merrily in the money saved department.

The amended bylaw submitted Monday, authorized reducing of the borrowing under the sewer loan bylaw from $260,000 to $177,000. A capital cost reduction of $83,000.

Reported Alderman Titchmarsh happily on Monday, "870,000 of this amount has already matured and will be retired this year."

Reported the finance chairman, in introducing the loan reduction bylaw, "It is at last possible to foresee with reasonable certainty the cost of completing the sewer project. This bylaw

WORK AT CITY HALL

Initial step in construction of the addition to city hall took place today as workmen removed lawn and a shallow excavation was made on the north side of the present structure. Although the new wing will contain no basement, it was necessary to make a slight excavation for solid foundation.

Property Owner Angered

Battles Over Right-Of-Way

Peremptory notice to clear the bank of Pentiction Creek, to make way for flood control work on his own property, brought an enraged citizen face-to-face with City Council on Monday and he left unsatisfied, breathing dire threats of barricades and "no trespassing" signs and legal action.

W. Crooks, 137 Ellis street, demanded to know by what right council thought it could walk onto his property and slash four or five feet off the land for creek purposes without compensation, without even so much as the property owner's consent.

City Engineer Paul G. W. Walker stated the title was subject to right of way requirements.

"But I've paid taxes on this property since 1948. Aren't I entitled to some compensation?" asked Mr. Crooks. "This isn't the first time. Once before the creek bank was cut, without any by your leave, and I lost three or four feet of land. Now, if this happens, what was a 110 foot lot will be down to 95 feet. It's reducing the value of my property. If council wants it, they should buy it, like I had to do."

"I'm paying taxes on water running past my place," grumbled Mr. Crooks.

Acting Mayor Wilson Hunt assured the complainant that the assessor would take the loss of property into consideration and advised Mr. Crooks to appear before

SAFE, SANE HALLOWE'EN IS PLANNED

As night shades descend on Pentiction this Saturday, the flickering glow from grinning pumpkin heads will herald the parade of spooks, goblins and all such eerie apparitions from their dark retreats to the scary good humor of the annual Halloween festivities.

Even now, as the parents of Pentiction's small fry well know, the prospect of the evening's fun and the costume to be worn is just about the most important thing in the minds of the younger generation. Early this week the enthusiasm bubbled forth as the children descended on the community with strips of Kinsmen sell-out tickets "that only cost a penny each."

From about four o'clock to seven on Saturday the youngsters, their identity hidden behind their Halloween disguise, will make the rounds to collect the tickets in the hope of winning a prize, if their total is among the highest.

They will converge on the school about seven, where the all-important costume judging will take place — with prizes in store for the judges' choice. Immediately following, the long make parade will unfold, with the Memorial Arena its destination.

Centering round a huge bonfire at the rear of the arena, the Pentiction Kinsmen have a program of fun and fireworks arranged to finish up the evening. The children should be on their way home by about 9:45.

Winners of the Kinsmen sell-out ticket collection will not be known until Monday.

NEW FIRE ENGINE

Pentiction firefighters were busy this afternoon unloading and assembling a new piece of equipment. Just arrived from the factory, it is a Bickle-Seagrave custom-built pumper with a capacity of 835 Imperial gallons. It will prove invaluable in cases of large fires.

CHECKUP ASKED

RCMP, at the request of Alderman J. G. Harris, will be asked to check up on owners of bicycles not carrying lights and reflectors on their machines.

MAURICE D. MACNAIR

Mr. MacNair, manager of OK Valley Freight Lines, Ltd., is new president of the Automotive Transport Association of British Columbia. Mr. MacNair was made head of the truckers' association, comprising some 500 members, at the body's annual meeting at the Hotel Vancouver last Saturday.

Property Owners Frustrated

No Escape From Tax Penalties

If Paul owes Peter one dollar and Peter owes Paul two dollars, it seems reasonable to some residents of Westminster avenue that Peter shouldn't worry about the one dollar owing him, as he owes double that amount to Paul.

It's not as confusing as it sounds. Last July the government took options on property frontages on Westminster to permit widening of the avenue, destined to become a main highway.

Payment was promised within a reasonable time and the property owners cheerfully spent money, they would otherwise have earmarked for taxes, on sundry necessities of life, in the belief that the provincial government would pay for the property in time to permit the property owners to pay their just taxes to the city before the penalty date.

The government has not come through and, in consequence, a delegation of Westminster avenue property owners headed by R. L. "Red" Bowring, waited upon council on Monday to request that council waive the penalty.

Mr. Bowring argued that a clause in the option agreement gave the city authority to deduct taxes from the payment and, as it wasn't the property owners' fault that payment had been delayed, the affected property owners felt they should not be asked to pay the penalty on late taxes.

The clause, however, it was pointed out, did not give council any such authority.

Tom Daly Honored For Long Service In Insurance Field

A quarter century of highly successful association with the Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada, all of it in the Penticton area, is the record noted this month by Tom Daly, of this city.

Last week, at Vancouver, Mr. Daly was presented with his 25-year pin and also with a handsome wrist watch by the president of the company, George Bourke, of Montreal, and he has been the recipient of numerous

Mr. Daly in 21 years of his service has achieved what is known as the Macaulay Club qualification, marking a high volume of production on behalf of his company in each of those years. In the 1939-40 period, he was the top-ranking representative in all Canada.

"It just goes to show what a wonderful area this is," remarked Mr. Daly, on his return to this city after the presentation, and in looking back on his record of achievement.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Editor, Penticton Herald

HERE WE GO AGAIN

Would you please grant me space in your paper to answer Wm. J. Harris of 595 Haywood St., Penticton, who had a letter in the Vernon News concerning the conduct of two Vernon hockey players at the game in Penticton on October 16.

Mr. Harris states that at this game, two Vernon players used obscene language and thumbed their noses at the referee. Now, we are not saying that this episode did not take place — we wouldn't know, we weren't there. But Mr. Harris evidently thinks that the Vernon people are blind — exactly the same thing occurred in Vernon last year. And something else we imagined the Penticton fans would like to forget about their wonderful V's — they stole, yes, we said stole, cushions that were being rented to help the blind. True enough, the cushions were thrown onto the ice, and it was poor sportsmanship on the part of the Vernon fans. But just because some of the Vernon fans acted in such a way, doesn't mean that the V's should stoop to the lowest possible act of man — stealing from the blind! When Vernon men went to the V's dressing room to retrieve the cushions, the V's threatened to beat them up.

In Vernon, as in Penticton, there were young people present, and no penalties were given. We agree that penalties should be given when such things occur.

But as statistics will prove, Vernon was the cleanest playing of the two clubs last year.

ARCHITECTS TO LECTURE

Well known Penticton architects, John and Dorothy Robertson, will give the first in a series of six lectures on the many phases of modern home planning, at Penticton high school next Monday. The first lecture will give a short historical sketch and deal generally with architecture.

Penticton Man Dies Following Car Accident

A warning fire was built around two Penticton men, John Walter Cockell, who later died, and John Hope, who is in Chilliwack hospital, as they lay beside their shattered car near Hope last Friday night, and rescue efforts were directed to another automobile, which by tragic coincidence, was involved in a separate accident nearby.

The car carrying the Penticton men, apparently, hit a frosty corner, about 29 miles east of Hope, and rolled off the road. The second car, although in no way involved in this accident, plummeted into the Skagit river and became embedded there.

The injured Penticton men were taken to Chilliwack hospital after the accident Friday night, and Mr. Cockell passed away early Sunday. Mr. Hope, of 319 Norton St., is hospitalized with chest injuries and his condition is only fair.

Mr. Cockell's injuries did not, at first, appear to be grave, and following his death, an inquest failed to place cause of death and an autopsy was ordered before the body could be returned here for burial.

Mr. Cockell, who resided on Fairford Drive, was 70 years of age and a resident of Penticton for the past 30 years. He had been a railwayman for about 25 years.

Involved in a railway accident at Ruby Creek about 11 years ago, he was hospitalized for over a year, and injuries forced his retirement from his position as a trainman.

Before coming to Penticton, he was an engineer with the Dominion Steel Company at Sydney, N.S. He is survived by his wife Emily Winnifred; six sons, Jack, Penticton; Bernard, Sydney, N.S.; Walter, Boston; Warren, Bull River, B.C.; Willard, Kelowna; Howard, Penticton; three daughters, Mrs. R. C. Ryver, Victoria; Mrs. Sandy Campbell, Victoria; Mrs. N. Palone, Boston; two brothers, Ernest, Victoria; Albert, Halifax; two sisters, Mrs. George Moody, and Miss Jennie Cockell, both of Wakefield, Mass.; and 22 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. from the Penticton Funeral Chapel, with the Reverend A. R. Eagles officiating and committal will be made at Lakeview Cemetery.

Local BCFGA To Elect Officers In November

A nominating committee consisting of C. W. Stewart, Mrs. Leslie Balla, and F. Preusse was named at Thursday's BCFGA meeting and charged with the task of presenting nominees for executive positions on the Penticton local, these to take office in January. The actual elections will be held at the next meeting, in November.

Also, at Thursday's meeting, there was a report from John Glass, secretary, on investigations into possibilities of gift-package sales of fruit-in-season through local hotels. This plan will be considered further, but, according to the report presented, offers an outlet for sale, and advertising of the valley product hitherto unexplored.

City Council granted the Penticton Soroptimist Club permission to hold a raffle this Christmas. The club plans to raffie a doll and high chair.

High Time To Save Time

A recent discussion at the city council here, after which it was decided to adopt strict rules of order in all deliberations, was aimed at cutting down the time spent by the mayor and aldermen on civic business and was a long overdue piece of business in itself.

Unless and until council members can bring themselves to be succinctly formal in their approach to an agenda, they will continue to be the biggest consumers of midnight oil in the community.

There is no room here for any critical approach. This council, and others of the past, have sacrificed time and energy in trying to administer a host of details. They have tried to get at the facts in anything and everything, to lay down policies, and then to ensure that they were followed through. Not always, in the past, have such policies lain in the hands of competent underlings, and council members were forced to assume even added chores, amounting in altogether too many cases to outright supervision. Under such circumstances it has been impossible to foster the idea of a board of directors, with management delegated. Hence the long weary hours around the council table, even when reasonably efficient staff and departmentalization seemed achieved.

Correction of this situation, however, is imperative. Mired down in a bog of detailed discussion, council must often find itself missing certain things which a more detached board of directors would be emphasizing. The same conscientious and over-zealous time-consumption by the directors of any business corporation would result only in a shambles. By securing adequate public servants, and by sensible departmentalizing, routine can be smoothed out. And by creating committees and other official bodies, and then — most important — by respecting the recommendations made by these subsidiary groups to the whole council, without trampling all over the issues again in full council, the council's business will assume mature and efficient form.

Over and over again, in this and other councils, there has been the instance of a recommendation being made by a responsible group, such as the town planning commission, irrigation commission, parks board, or some council committee, only to be met with a prolonged rehashing in council itself at the end. Council members of the whole should learn that only in the most exceptional cases, only when they have the most vigorous objections, should they take up the time of the full council in debating something that has already been probed by a group delegated for that task.

One council in an Okanagan city once made it the practice to enforce the standing by any alderman who wished to debate any resolution before the council's public meeting. It was astounding how the business seemed to simplify itself and with no apparent harm to the community. For in a multitude of to-and-fro words there is rarely any gain.

This editorial, we repeat, is not in criticism of those who are the greatest sacrificers of time in our midst. It is, rather, a reassurance to them that, in taking the decision to take things easier, Penticton will be with them. Nobody should be asked to shoulder the burdens that are now heaped on a council member, and the paradoxically fortunate thing about it all is this, that in a decision to force a shortening of their time on the job, they will doubtless contribute to what in the long run will be a more effective and sensible civic administration.

Can Figures Lie?

The Kelowna Courier, in a recent editorial, asked the old question, Can figures lie? It was alluding to the following:

"Lumber workers in Southern Interior operations bargaining through the Interior Lumber Manufacturers Association voted last week under government supervision to determine on their own behalf whether strike action should now be authorized. The over-all results of the voting, as reported to the Union, indicates that the majority of the lumber workers prefer strike action to any continuation of the old contract terms which the employers are trying to force upon them. No other interpretation can possibly be placed upon the balloting results, and it is this interpretation which the IWA is in duty bound to accept. We will act accordingly."

The above are the opening remarks of George Mitchell, IWA district secretary, in a radio address made recently.

Note those phrases: "The over-all result of the result of the voting . . . indicates that the majority of the lumber workers prefer strike action . . .". "No other interpretation can possibly be placed upon the balloting results . . .".

The results of the balloting, according to the official figures, were that 21 mills voted against striking while 18 voted for striking. Of the 1,615 men who cast ballots 795 voted to strike and 795 voted against striking, while 25 spoiled their ballots.

We may not be able to understand the English language; we may not be able to understand figures. Nevertheless try as we may, we fail to reconcile the above figures with Mr. Mitchell's claim that "the majority of the lumber workers prefer to strike . . ."

Mr. Mitchell said the figures show that the majority of the men want strike action and that "no other interpretation can possibly be placed upon the balloting." This is rather disconcerting to us as we had always understood that when people voted against a thing it meant that they were opposed to it. And we have always understood that when a greater number of people voted against a thing than voted for it, in our democratic system, it meant that the majority was opposed and the majority ruled. We always were under the impression, too, that 21 was a greater number than 18 and that 795 is not a lesser nor a greater figure but equal to itself, 795.

Apparently we were wrong. Either that or the language and the arithmetic we learned at school are not the same as that Mr. Mitchell and the union use, for they are directly opposed. We are completely confused. We look at two sets of figures and try to add them together, Mr. Mitchell does the same. To us they say that as units and as individuals the men voted against strike action, a tie always being considered a negative vote. Yet Mr. Mitchell says the "voting indicates the majority of the lumber workers prefer strike action" and that "no other interpretation can possibly be placed upon the balloting." We both cannot be right.

Is it we who are wrong?
Is it Mr. Mitchell who is wrong?
Or do figures simply lie?

4,753 Years Closer

Movies have been so outdrawing playgrounds in Toronto that it is being suggested that playgrounds be closed on Saturdays.

Few of us don't remember the thrills of a Saturday matinee, of cap guns roaring, peanut shot in the ear, the rich, fragrant smell of overshod feet on a winter's day.

But there's still the same old sobs and walls, boos and cheers, shrieks and screams, as today's version of Jugalong Hassidy fights it out with Slimy Slim's gang of villains.

Obviously, according to one eastern journal, this addiction to movies rather than playgrounds, like the hours spent watching television, is just another sign that the world is going to the dogs — carried there as usual by the younger generation.

Before we worry too much, however, we might look at an Assyrian tablet. The date 2,800 B.C. Things looked pretty bad then too. The world was coming to an end, and going to the dogs en route.

"Our earth is degenerating in these latter days; there are signs that the world is speedily coming to an end — bribery and corruption are common; children no longer obey their parents; every man wants to write a book, and the end of the world is approaching."

Well, here we are, 4,753 years closer to it!

Bombing The Coyotes

A few days ago the Ottawa Journal reporting on developments in the far west, observed that many a coyote, slinking over the plain, will feel in his nostrils an intoxicating odor impossible to resist. His natural caution forgotten, he will find and snatch at a choice morsel. Then the bomb inside blows his head off and justice has been done.

So far so good. The coyote is a pest, a killer, a disturber of the night with unmusical wails, a crafty avoicer of traps who can tell the calibre of a rifle carried by a man a mile away.

But this is not the end of the story.

Our friends tell us of the brilliance of the scientists who devised the wonderful bait and the explosive inside it. Then they started to mourn. Having killed their coyotes, they found the gophers on their farms increased and multiplied beyond all previous knowledge.

Having upset the balance of nature they now attempt to strike another balance. They have figured out that 35 gophers will eat as much as a cow in a summer and when they see a crop of 100 gophers to an acre they begin to wonder if it wouldn't be better to have the coyotes back, complete with heads.

Canada's Northland A Challenge To Country's Future Development

By VINCE DUGGAN

Awakening of Canada's vast northland, discoveries of fabulous resources, its sprawling, key position across the top of the world, possibility of unlimited agricultural productivity in the area, the quaint Eskimo and the romantic land of the midnight sun — all were portrayed in a factual, wit-punctuated address to members of Penticton Canadian Club by guest speaker Grant MacEwan, at their regular meeting Monday night.

Mr. MacEwan, manager of the Council of Canadian Beef Producers, Calgary alderman, and a one time professor of the school of agriculture has had a distinguished public career and has travelled extensively in Canada's north.

"Let's clear up this misconception of climate," advised the speaker. "There is no limit to northern cultivation as long as there is soil, and a big task facing Canadians today is to map and assess that part of the country for productivity."

MUST FIND SOIL
Productivity up to now has not been very great, the agricultural expert admitted, and those with farming knowledge had written off the north too quickly as being incapable of growing crops. "I must say the soil is not very good, but there is some soil, it hasn't been mapped and we don't know where it is," he said.

But he pointed out that the north country contains one and a half million square miles of land, or 40 percent of Canada's land surface, and is still the most sparsely populated section of the world.

"In point of climate there is no limit to cultivation. We can grow things right to the Arctic if there is soil. At Norman Wells, for example, with 23 hours of sunshine in mid-June, our experiments in planting have been most encouraging and growth in the north during certain seasons is pretty phenomenal," he asserted.

FRUIT TREES PLANTED

Vegetables at Norman Wells did very well, the speaker informed members of the club. Grain crops were tried next and the samples were respectable. Finally tree fruits were planted, apples, cherries and raspberries, and after the first winter they were still alive and likely to survive.

In Mr. MacEwan's mind, interest in the north is threefold — its intriguing history, its defensive significance and its challenge in the field of potential economics. He reviewed each point in turn.

"I believe we must revise our thinking of the Canadian north and forgive those who underestimated its potential in times past," he said. "Many years ago an Englishman said that seven-eighths of North America was doomed to eternal sterility. A cloud of superstition and misunderstanding hung over the northwest. An editorial writer said British Columbia was not worth keeping, because it couldn't be inhabited, and as far as Manitoba was concerned, the same writer thought people there would be doomed to permanent frostbite."

"Of course there was a reason for this," explained the speaker. "It was an effort to forestall linking of our country by railway, considered at that time to be completely unfeasible. Opponents even went so far as to say the railway would operate only five months a year because it would be frozen up the other part of the time."

HISTORY OF THE NORTH

In spite of such opposition it must be remembered that the earliest history of western Canada was written in the Arctic. Mr. MacEwan stated. He delved back into history and the epic voyage of Henry Hudson in his search for a shortcut to the Orient, the founding of Fort Churchill by the explorer Meek, who wintered there, and the beginning of the monument at Fort Prince of Wales in 1717 which took 40 years to build, and was described by the speaker as a memorial to the two-faced, square-jawed people who withstood all threats.

"It is not quite in the same category as the pyramids of Egypt but I suspect it will stand as long, and is a sort of monument in the stalwart character of the people who built it," he said. "Yes, there is a spark of romance about the story of the north."

Turning to the north's position in relation to defence, Mr. MacEwan said, "Canada is open, on her north and what a big north it is from Labrador to the eastern point of Alaska."

BUSIEST AIR ROUTE

"The day is long past," he went on, "when the Arctic ice cap represents anything in the way of defence. It is reasonable to expect that if there is war, Arctic air routes will be the busiest in the world. And the same will eventually apply in times of peace."

Mr. MacEwan illustrated his point by showing that an air traveller wishing to go from Edmonton to say, Karachi, would follow the North Pole route, because it would be the shortest. And he revealed that authorities who plot air maps have found that high altitude flying poses less of a problem over the Arctic because the stratosphere is encountered at a much lower altitude than on other air routes.

"Let's remember, in peace or war," he concluded his thought, "northern routes are going to hold the attention of those who plan air routes."

MYTHICAL TRIP

Mr. MacEwan then took his audience on a mythical air journey into the vast northland, commencing at Edmonton. First stop was at Fort McMurray, where he described the oil tar sands with a potential 2,500 times as great as Turner Valley, and the biggest deposit of petroleum in the world today. "Right in our back yard and it belongs to us," he said. "And it makes me proud that that part of the country which was considered an ugly duckling was hiding something so precious."

Next stop was Hays River, where the traveller could sample some of the great fish pasture coming out of Slave Lake. From there, the speaker continued on to Yellowknife, a thriving and bustling community built around the great mines. Then on to Fort Simpson where over 100 years ago the first plantings of agricultural things were made, even before experiments had been conducted in western Canada.

Norman Wells was the next port of call made by the speaker where the Canol pipe line was laid across the mountains to Whitehorse. On to Great Bear Lake and Port Radium, "where," he described vividly, "from the bowels of the earth came the first uranium that resulted in the Hiroshima atom bomb and broke the Belgian Congo's monopoly on uranium."

GREAT DEVELOPMENTS
He touched on other great things in the north — the world's greatest muskrat pasture at Ak-lavik, where 225,000 pelts were taken in one year from the MacKenzie delta; the fabulous development of oil and uranium in northern Saskatchewan; Whitehorse, great transportation centre; the railway being pushed across bleak Labrador to Ungava Bay and to the world's richest iron deposits; the mineral reserves of northern Ontario; developments around Lynn Lake, Manitoba; Kilmat, a 500,000 million dollar project, costing more than the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway development.

Referring to weather again, Mr. MacEwan found the people of Snare, Yukon, indifferent to temperature readings. "So many of us have a frost complex," he said, "but it is my opinion that anyone who lives in either the Arctic or Panama zone and does not know how to dress for the climate, deserves to be uncomfortable."

Mr. MacEwan summed it up by saying, "the north, which has been hiding something, is beginning to bare its hand and make Canadians and the people of the world sit up and take notice."

"I commend the north country to you, its tremendous projects and potential, the Eskimos, the midnight sun. One trip, and you will come away with a bit of that intangible something we call northern fever."

Mr. MacEwan was thanked for his address by Mrs. Hugh Cleland and was introduced by Canadian Club president Miss Joan Appleton.

Smith said they are being designed to handle a much larger quantity of water than the amount which poured down the basin during the floods of 1948.
And the primary object is to prevent flooding and at the same time, provide ample water for irrigation purposes throughout the year.

He referred to other work made necessary by the project, such as the construction of permanent bridges at Okanagan

Falls, Skaha Lake, Fairview
Road and Eckhardt avenue, where steel structures replaced obsolete wooden bridges in each case.

With Lakeshore Drive now a dead end road at the old channel, the eventual main through-fare in Penticton will be thoroughfare in Penticton will be by way of Westminster avenue, the engineer explained.

Always a keen sportsman, he played first base on Summer-player with Summerland's first band, and was a member of that group, on their first trip to the coast, when they performed at the exhibition. An ardent boatman, he originated the war canoe team in Summerland.

The Blewett family lived for a short time in Chinaman's Gully. Later, they bought property in Peach orchard, where they resided for many years, and developed the beautiful gar-

Mr. Blewett worked as an el-and at one time operated a flour release as much water as is necessary from Lake Okanagan during the winter months to prepare for spring freshets, which usually reach a peak during the latter part of May. And the new operation will be much easier, according to the flood control chief.

He also explained that control will not be completely effective until the whole project is completed from here to the Columbia river, although once section
A is done, Skaha Lake could be some measure of relief if waters of Okanagan Lake become unusually high.

Dollars Saved

retires $83,000 of the longest term issue, leaving $177,000 to complete the job.

Alderman Titchmarsh recalled how he had persuaded council not to sell the bonds and then because of the much smaller sum required for the sewer project than originally estimated, he had thought it possible to finance the sewer work through the banks.

"At this point I would like to pay tribute to the Bank of Montreal for accommodating the city in a financial field seldom entered by bankers," Alderman Titchmarsh said.

"Reduction of the bylaw amount clears the way for sale of the debentures, for which a satisfactory offer has been received, and for the city this transaction will give us a bonded indebtedness which matures in 18 years, instead of 25 years, and makes possible a sewer mill rate reduction of three quarters of a mill effective in 1954.

"Immediate saving on this method of financing in this first year amounts to $10,000 and the overall gross saving over the 25 years as originally planned for, counting of course the reduced capital outlay, amounts to $176, 293.

"The offer submitted by Thomas B. Read, Vancouver investment broker, is for debentures to the value of $170,000 at five and quarter percent interest at the rate of $99 to the $100."

Alderman Titchmarsh told council he considered this offer quite satisfactory, "considerably better than the offers first received."

The following figures show where the saving is made. Original sewer loan bylaw, capital,

Junior Auxiliary To City Hospital Sponsors Another Successful Annual Event

Another outstanding and successful social event, which has also proven to be a very satisfactory financial venture, the "Arabian Nights Ball," held on Friday evening at the Incolta Hotel, can be attributed to the untiring work and efforts of the members of the Junior Auxiliary to the Penticton Hospital, the sponsoring organization. A slight apprehension as to the advisability of holding the annual affair on the night of a hockey game was soon dispelled as more than 300 guests arrived to participate in the evening's festivities.

The oriental motif suggested by the theme of the ball was predominant in all features of the entertaining evening. An Arabian market square, suitably decorated with rich drapery, colorful rugs, oil jars, and swaying date palms, was the setting for the entire arrangement of the affair. The chairman of the committee, Mrs. C. E. MacInnis, Mrs. Cecil Brett was chairman of the decorating committee and her artistic ability was evident in the novel and attractive setting.

A floor show, directed by Mrs. J. J. Gibson, was very well received. The cast of the presentation was unique; in fact that the roles of beautifully costumed dancing girls from the orient, slaves, and even the camel, were taken by well known business and professional men of this city. Extremely amusing, colorful and entertaining the show was centred around the slave block in the Arabian square.

Slaves, Alderman Frank Christian and Juan Puddy, preceded the bevy of richly costumed slave girls, Vincent Duggan, J. N. Gravelle, Dr. Miles Pleasch and Dr. W. A. Wickert, as they were escorted to the auction block by Chow-Chin-Chew, played by George B. Carter. The sheik, A. G. Schell, was almost prevented from securing a new slave girl by the arrival of Les Harper, cast in the role of Scheherazade, his favorite of the harem. Additional glamour and hilarious entertainment was provided on the program by others in the cast; Dave Roegge as a snake charmer; J. R. Johnston, a beggar, and Bruce Estrabrooks and Dr. John J. Gibson, as camels. Eric Reid was narrator for the performance.

Among the many Junior Hospital Auxiliary members, convening committees at the successful event were Mrs. T. W. Bryant, costumes; novelties, Mrs. T. I. costumes; Mrs. T. I. Fell, novelties; Mrs. H. B. McGregor, refreshments; Mrs. R. F. Raikes, advertising; Mrs. W. E. Gartrell and Mrs. Alex. Young, raffle tickets.

Prizes donated for the event were as follows: silver service from W. R. Cranna and Sons, won by Mrs. Graham Knight; an electric mantle clock by Reid Coates Hardware, won by Mrs. Gerald Latimer and the $10 certificate from Gray's Apparel went to Mrs. W. G. Holmes.

A modest and lovely young concert artist, Margaret Ann Ireland, enthralled the many who were present at the piano recital presented by her on Saturday evening in the Penticton high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Registered Music Teachers' Association of this city. The more than 400 attending the concert by the talented Winnipeg-born pianist were delighted by her charm and her natural personality.

Hailed by music critics both at home and abroad as an artist with great musical ability and understanding Miss Ireland is a true sovereign of the keyboard. The concert on Saturday by her was another milestone in the cultural life of Penticton.

The program ranged from Bach, Schumann, Chopin, the modern composers, Bergsma and Prokofiev, and Beethoven, the latter number being the high light of the concert. The molten and soul searching qualities of this masterpiece were superbly realized. As encores Miss Ireland gave the Liebestraum, Liszt and C minor Etude, Chopin. All together, an unforgettable evening. Assisting the music teachers with the concert arrangements were the Penticton Jayceettes and High School Glee Club in the selling of tickets and Monty's Flower Shop, who with the help of Mrs. J. A. English provided the platform decorations.

Children's Hospital Guild Gives Help At Travelling Clinic

When the travelling clinic to the Crippled Children's Hospital of Vancouver made its scheduled visit on Thursday to the out patients' clinic at the Penticton Hospital fourteen members of the recently formed Guild to the Crippled Children's Hospital were there to offer assistance to the clinic staff.

Records were kept and light refreshments, tea, Nescafe, soft drinks and cookies, were served to approximately 50 young patients and mothers attending the clinic.

The guild, recently organized under the guidance of Mrs. A. Earl Wells, is making arrangements for another general public meeting and Mrs. Wells is extending an invitation to all interested in helping in the work of local handicapped children to be present at the meeting, the date to be announced later.

Reports were presented and two new commissioners, Mrs. Innes Brown, of this city, and Mrs. J. H. McIntosh, of Summerland, were introduced to the members present.

The "Good Turn" funds of the divisional groups for the past year which totalled $132 will be donated to the polo fund and all monies realized under the "Good Turn" program for the 1953-54 season will go toward the purchase of camp equipment for use in Guide and Brownie camps.

The next meeting of the South Okanagan division of Guides and Brownies will be held next May at Summerland.

Refreshments served by the local association of Guides and Brownies brought the session to a conclusion.

Miss Marion Thom was here from Vancouver to spend the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thom.

Current Projects, Reports Centre Of Attention At Church Federation Meeting

Reports from delegates, discussions on current projects and submitting of regular monthly reports all contributed to a full and interesting meeting for the members of the Women's Federation of the Penticton United Church at their regular monthly session held on Thursday in the church hall with the president, Mrs. J. H. Myers, conducting the meeting.

Mrs. Mildred Jones, who had been a delegate from Penticton to the World Women's Christian Temperance Union convention held in Vancouver from June 2 to 9, gave a most comprehensive and informative report on the meeting. She told of hearing reports given by delegates from almost every country in the world including India, a country which is making greater progress in her fight against alcoholism than any other. She said that all delegates at this huge world convention seemed to be of the opinion that total abstinence among all church members would add greatly to the solution of the liquor problem in all countries.

Another delegate's report, submitted by Mrs. A. M. Warren on the Women's Missionary Society School for Leaders, held last month in Vancouver, which she and Mrs. Myers attended, was equally interesting to the members.

Mrs. L. V. Newton reported on the church visiting of the sick during the month and told of the sending of cards to the sick and bereaved. The missionary convener, Mrs. E. W. Unwin, told of the work accomplished by Miss Grace Patterson, of Khaua, India, who is the "prayer partner" of the Penticton United Church Women's Federation for the current year.

Rev. Ernest Rands spoke on the new church training school in Toronto and said that starting next Sunday a campaign would be launched to raise $700 from the Penticton United Church towards this project.

Five parcels were sent to Korea during the past month stated Mrs. Myers. These were made up from donations by members and adherents of the church and packed by the Maple Circle of the church federation. Mrs. W. J. Hillyard, Mrs. David Craig, Mrs. Ernest Rands and Mrs. J. T. Pearson volunteered to pack the Korean parcels for November.

A motion was approved extending a vote of appreciation to the Evening Circle for the effective Thanksgiving decorations in the church and to all who have helped by supplying flowers for the church each Sunday.

The November meeting of the Women's Federation will be held on the evening of November 23 in the church hall when Miss Ruth Sharpe, a recent addition to the teaching staff of the Penticton high school, will show pictures of her world travels.

Following the adjournment of the meeting refreshments were served to the many present by the Maple Leaf Circle of the federation.

Record Attendance At Kiwassa Club Meeting

Twelve members of the Summerland Kiwassa Club were among those present at the home of Mrs. Hugh P. Barr on Monday for the regular session of the Penticton Kiwassa Club at what proved to be one of the largest meetings recorded by the local club. Approximately 50 were present at the session held under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. L. Boulton, president of the local club.

The interesting meeting covered many matters of business pertinent to current club activities. A letter was read from the Kiwanis Club asking for assistance with the concessions stand at Kiwanis Park where the Little League Baseball games will take place. A favorable reception was given the matter and the secretary, Mrs. Clyde McLeod, was instructed to reply to that effect.

A nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of officers for election at the next meeting of the Kiwassa Club to be held on November 23 at the home of Mrs. J. H. Stapleton. Chosen on the committee were Mrs. R. V. White, Mrs. R. A. Patterson and Mrs. G. J. Winter.

Mrs. Boulton reviewed many of the club activities for the benefit of the Summerland visitors who were interested in the very satisfactory manner in which the club had progressed since being organized four years ago.

She told of the weekly assistance given by members at the well baby clinic here; she also told of the work on Wednesday mornings when patients were transported from their homes by the club members to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's clinic at the Penticton Hospital and outlined details of the forthcoming Kiwassa Christmas Carnival, the only fund raising project sponsored each year by the club. Proceeds of the forthcoming affair to be held on November 28 at the Hotel Prince Charles are used to further the boys' and girls' work of the club, she stated.

The Kiwassa Club members will join the Kiwanis Club in support of the "Goto-Church-Sunday" on November 15. The two groups will attend the Sunday morning services at the Penticton United Church on that day.

"Parents' Night" By Church L A To Local Cubs

Finalized plans for the "parents' night" being held at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall under the sponsorship of the church Ladies' Auxiliary to the Scouts and Cubs, the election of a new slate of officers for the ensuing year and other items of interest were among the many matters under discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the L A held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. McNeill, Van Horne street.

The auxiliary, which functions for the purpose of assisting the church Scout Troop and Cub Pack with various matters outside the scope of the boys and their leaders, is endeavoring to create more interest, especially among the mothers, in the work of the groups. An invitation is extended to all parents of the church Scouts and Cubs to be present at the meeting which commences at 8 p.m. There are 26 Boy Scouts and 31 Cubs enrolled in the St. Andrew's boys' groups.

Those elected to hold office in the auxiliary for the ensuing year are Mrs. F. G. Abbott, president; Mrs. C. N. Richardson, vice-president; Mrs. J. D. Chalmers, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. George Clary, lunch convener.

Students Tell Of UN Session At BP Club Meeting

Two Penticton High School students, Miss Marlene Reading and Terry Raikes, who attended the United Nations Seminar at the University of British Columbia this past summer, gave a comprehensive report on the session while speaking before a well attended meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last week in the Alexander Room of the Canadian Legion Hall.

Introduced by the club president, Miss Joan Appleton, the young speakers gave the club members a clear insight into the purposes and aims of the United Nations and described the various activities in which they and the other delegates participated while at the coed session. At the conclusion of the interesting address as Miss Reading displayed cards and note paper which are being sold under the sponsorship of the United Nations to raise funds for assistance with children's welfare work in war torn countries.

Mrs. Elsie Mac Cleave thanked the young guest speakers and expressed the hope that a United Nations group would be started in the Penticton High School so that more students would become aware of what this organization is striving to accomplish.

Miss Grace d'Aoust and Miss Margaret McAtstocker, who were among the several members from Penticton to attend the provincial conference of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held at the Empress hotel, Victoria, over the Thanksgiving weekend, gave a resume of many interesting highlights from the meeting.

When tentative plans were discussed for the annual tea to be held in January under the sponsorship of the BP Club, Mrs. Barbara Campbell and Mr. Joan Gibb was appointed co-conveners.

Mrs. Mac Cleave reminded the members that Dr. Lotta Hiltzmanova, director for the United Nations Relief Services of Canada, will be in this city on November 27 and will address the citizens in an appeal for funds in aid of the children of Korea.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Turnbull left on Monday for Victoria where Mr. Turnbull, former school inspector of this district, will become assistant municipal school inspector for the greater Victoria district.

FOUND DEAD IN CABIN

A 63-year-old resident of Penticton, Louie Felix Labella, was found dead in his cabin at 777 Toronto avenue yesterday morning. Death is believed due to natural causes.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. from Roselawn Funeral Home with Mr. Henry Matlik of Jehovah Witnesses officiating, and interment at Lakeview cemetery.

Tuberculosis in the early stages doesn't advertise itself like mumps, measles or whooping cough. That's why there are so many undiscovered cases. The aim of tuberculosis prevention programs is to find these cases before they become worse, and before their disease spreads to others. Help this work by buying and using Christmas Seals.

Tax Penalties

Council has no right to deduct for taxes. It cannot force tax payments, but it can seize property for non-payment, it was pointed out to the delegation.

Council conceded the property owners had reason for disquiet, but as the options do not expire until the end of November there was nothing could be done, other than to make another, of repeated efforts to have the government speed action.

Acting Mayor Hunt expressed sympathy with the property owners in their dilemma, but stated it was beyond the powers of council to waive the tax penalty.

Suggestion of Alderman Titchmarsh that, in view of the security, the residents borrow from the bank to pay taxes and avoid the penalty, met a cool reception.

Mr. Bowering, and others of the delegation, left still wondering why, with money owing to them from the government, a portion of which is already held by city council, they should, through what they consider no fault of their own, have to pay ten percent penalty for late tax payment.

The death rate from tuberculosis is falling rapidly in Canada but the sickness from the disease is not keeping pace. Prevention has not gone ahead as quickly as treatment. Help prevent TB. Help now by buying Christmas Seals.

Local Men Attend Labor Convention

At last week's four-day convention, in Vancouver, of the AFL-Carpenters Provincial Council, three men represented the Penticton district. They are I. L. Bunes, W. J. Baker and T. C. Hawtree.

Mr. Hawtree was elected a representative for the Penticton-Okanagan district, marking the third year he has sat on the executive.

The delegates mapped out a province-wide agreement to be sought with contractors and others in next year's wage negotiations. They also passed resolutions asking for increased benefits in unemployment insurance, higher old age pensions; lower down payments on NHA homes and listing of tools as allowable deduction from taxable income.

George Bengough was elected president of the council, succeeding Robert Strachan, CCF-MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle. Mr. Bengough is the son of Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Council Would Like To See Duke Visit Okanagan Next Year

City Council is hopeful that a movement launched by the Vernon Board of Trade to have His Highness, the Duke of Edinburgh, visit the Okanagan during his trip to Canada next year, when he will attend the British Empires games at Vancouver,

Freak Fire Destroys Trailer Of City Couple, Flat Tire Flames

An almost inexplicable fire, which burst from a flat tire on a trailer, owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carter, of Lakawana Trailer Camp, completely destroyed the vehicle and its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Carter, along with Herb Clark, were returning last week to Penticton from California at the time of the mishap.

They were travelling between Lind and Ritzville, Washington, when the trailer developed a flat tire. They stopped along the road to allow the tire to cool off, before making a change, when it burst into flame.

Although they attempted to smother the flames with a blanket, and fire engines responded from Lind and Ritzville, the flames could not be controlled. Loss runs about $1000 and was not covered by insurance.

While the trailer went up in flames, a fire ranger's plane hovered overhead, fearful that nearby bush might become ignited.

Mr. Carter suffered a slight burn to the hand and Mrs. Carter's face was singed slightly.

Scientists Can Now Make Tender Meat Out Of Old Dairy Cows

Recent trends in feed cattle research were discussed by Dr. Allan MacDonald when he spoke before the Rotary Club luncheon here on Monday.

The speaker, who recently was awarded his Ph.D. degree at Oregon State College and who is soon to be working on behalf of the New Zealand government, was introduced by his father-in-law, A. F. Cumming.

The more economic production and marketing of meat is engaging the attention of scientists, he emphasized, and gave some illustrations of the progress that is being recorded.

Increased use of male hormones is making fast weight-gaining possible. Weight-gaining characteristics, moreover, are transmittable, hence the stress that is being placed on progeny testing of bulls. Here the speaker pointed out that only recently a half-interest in one bull had cost $33,000.

Fast gain in weight means greater protein content than fat, which comes with slow weight gaining. This then raises the problem of tough-will bear fruit.

On Monday council endorsed the Vernon boards' objective, but expressed the view that it was a matter for the Penticton board to take up. The letter from Vernon asking for a co-ordinated effort by all the valley cities, will be passed on to the local Board of Trade for action.

Park Cars At Rear Of Arena For Safety, Park Board Advises

The Penticton Parks Board has made a statement designed to clear up a misunderstanding surrounding stealing of a battery from a car during a hockey game last week. First reports said the car was parked in the arena grounds.

The Parks Board says the facts of the case are that the car was parked two blocks away from the arena at the time of the theft. Further, the statement continues, with the co-operation of the RCMP, the arena grounds are patrolled at all hockey games, and if cars are parked behind the arena, patrons are assured of protection at all games.

This year Denmark celebrates the 50th anniversary of the beginning of the Christmas Seal sale. It was first suggested by a Copenhagen postman, Einar Holboell. About 75 countries have borrowed the Danes' way of raising money for the prevention of tuberculosis.

AIR FREIGHTER FOR CANADA: The first of three Bristol Freighters ordered by Trans-Canada Air Lines has arrived from England for service on the airline's routes between Montreal-New York-Toronto and Winnipeg. The big snub-nosed aircraft will carry six tons of cargo in its 2,360 cubic foot compartment. TCA is the first major scheduled airline in North America to introduce an aircraft designed solely for carrying freight. The TCA is square sided and served by nose doors that open to the full width of the aircraft to permit the loading of bulky cargo. It can carry three standard automobiles.

"Painful Duty" Declares Judge In Sentencing Of Youths To Prison Terms

His Honor Judge M. M. Colquhoun described his duty as "a very painful one" when he sentenced two 16-year-old Vancouver boys to the young offenders' wing at Oakalla for car theft. They received identical sentences, three months definite and up to nine months indeterminate.

The charge was laid following a series of thefts involving eight cars, although the youths were brought to court facing only one count, theft of a car belonging to Aubrey James of Osoyoos.

"I always feel that young boys deserve a second chance," His Honor remarked, "and under ordinary circumstances it would be in order to suggest that suspended sentences may apply. But I cannot shut my eyes to the fact that the police have laid only one charge and could lay more. In that case a suspended sentence would be impossible and would nullify that consideration."

His Honor also said it was his opinion that the two boys were not criminals, but that he must also take into consideration the fact that the public is entitled to some protection.

Evidence disclosed that the boys, one of them on probation following a similar charge, had left Vancouver on October 13 after one had quarrelled with his family. They stole a car in Vancouver, a second in Burnaby, a third in Abbotsford, and then drove to Chilliwack. Two cars were taken there, but on the way to Hope, one vehicle ran out of gasoline and was abandoned. Other cars were taken at Hope, Allison Pass and Kelowna.

From Kelowna they drove to Vernon where one of the boys telephoned his parents to say they would return home. Back in Kelowna, their car ran out of gas and they stole another vehicle.

Apparently, they missed the turn at Kaleden junction, went as far as Osoyoos where the James' car was taken and were eventually apprehended by the RCMP at Princeton, October 15.

A letter from parents of one of the offenders expressed a desire to co-operate with the court in getting their son to mend his ways. Father of the other boy appeared in court and explained events leading up to the "joy-ride".

South Okanagan School Inspector Transferred To Kitimat School District

OLIVER — Secretary-treasurer of Southern Okanagan school district number 14 for the past five years, P. T. Sampson is leaving shortly for Kitimat where he has been appointed to a similar position in newly-organized school district, 18 at Kitimat.

His successor in Oliver is R. W. Sladen, formerly secretary-treasurer at Salmon Arm.

Travel Broadens The Mind Believes Young Kaleden Man

A yen to travel while young has launched a 22-year-old Kaleden man on a junket across Canada, and the Atlantic to Britain and continental points.

Geoffrey Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Farmer, a graduate of UBC in arts and science, has a travelling companion in Lorne Dyke, of Nelson, a university undergraduate. The two men have planned their trip for some time, and in a week had hitch-hiked as far as Montreal, having had to take a bus only once.

"They both feel the same about taking the trip now," explained Mrs. Farmer. "Instead of saving for years, they decided to see the world when they were young and single."

Geoffrey will visit friends and relatives of the family in England, said Mrs. Farmer, and hopes to continue his studies somewhere on the continent.

"Penticton Sings" New Pre Christmas Program Sponsored By Kiwassa

"Penticton Sings" will be a new feature of pre-Christmas week in Penticton, when, it is hoped, all the city choirs, school and church, glee clubs and other choral groups will join for the two nights, December 16-17, in the singing of Christmas carols and other Christmas songs.

The event, the first of its kind in Penticton, is being sponsored by the Penticton Kiwassa Club with Mrs. H. P. Barr, convenor. All choirs in the city are invited to join this pre-Christmas musical festival. School authorities are cooperating fully and elementary, intermediate and high school choirs will take part. The school band will perform and there is the possibility of the High School Drama Club staging a short Christmas play to round out the program.

The event will be held in the high school auditorium and the audience will join in mass singing of the old Christmas carols.

Choirs and other groups wishing to join this two nights' festival of song are requested to communicate with Mrs. Barr, RR 215 A, or by telephone, 5553.

All entries must be in by November 9 to permit time for arranging the program.

IWA Spokesmen Here Contradict Report On Strike Statistics

According to brothers Fred and Frank Marsel, mill workers at Yellow Lake Sawmills, and members of the IWA union, seven out of 10 men are involved in the dispute which has halted all work at the plant.

They said that only two men are at present employed at the company's planing operation. The Marsel brothers also said the report that truckers and loggers are not members of a union, is incorrect. All are members of the IWA, according to the Marsel brothers.

In last week's Herald it was reported that six or seven men were working at the planing operation and that the affected loggers and truckdrivers are not members of any union.

Idaho Rotarians In Penticton On Goodwill Visit

The Rotary Club luncheon here on Monday was featured by the presence of 17 members of the club at McCall, Idaho, who made the 500-mile trip to Penticton by special bus as a goodwill gesture across the border.

Spokesmen for the visitors were their club president, Roy May, and McCall's mayor, Arthur Roberts, who emphasized the warm welcome that had been extended to them and who, in turn, issued an invitation for the Penticton club members to return the visit.

"In this small way," remarked Mr. May, "we feel we are helping to forward the cause of international acquaintance and understanding."

Plan Development Of School Grounds At Summerland

SUMMERLAND — Summerland school board, meeting on Monday evening, confirmed the appointment of Mrs. C. Reinertson to the teaching staff of the high school to fill the vacancy caused by the illness of H. V. Stent. Mrs. J. C. Wilcox had been teaching in Mr. Stent's place until the middle of October.

It was decided to make plans for the further development of the school grounds and members of the horticultural society, and the parks board will be asked to meet with the school board on the site on November 18. It was known that members of the former two civic bodies are interested in beautifying the school block which occupies an important place in the centre of the municipality and thought that their advice would be most valuable.

R. McLachlan gave an interesting resume of some of the high lights and more important resolutions passed at the recent trustees' convention at which he, with B. A. Tingley, secretary-treasurer, was a delegate. Boarding allowance was granted for Margaret Lyons whose family lives at Ashola Lumber Co.

Opening of the school cafeteria was postponed until a later date. Requests were received and granted for use of classrooms for meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association, the Speaker's Club and the Kiwanis club, the latter for play rehearsals.

Union members of Summerland Box Factory held their annual cabaret dinner and dance in the IOOF hall on Saturday evening. Catering was the work of members of the Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 32.

Date of court of revision for the municipal voters' list has been set for November 16 by the local council.

J. Y. Towgood, chairman of Summerland school board, district 77, has received a Coronation Medal from Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, which he displayed to members of the board, meeting on Monday evening.

Reeve C. E. Bentley, councillors Francis Stewart and F. E. Atkinson and municipal clerk Gordon Smith, are attending the UBCM meeting in Vancouver this week.

A number of friends of Mrs. L. Bancroft surprised her with a party at her home on KVR road, Monday evening, the occasion of her birthday.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox of the Experimental Station recently attended a field day on soil conservation held on the Bestock farm in the area between Bridesville and Rock Creek sponsored by the provincial department of agriculture. It was organized by Fraser Carmichael, district agriculturist at Grand Forks and G. L. Calver, agricultural engineer for B.C. They were assisted by Mr. Ross, a soil conservationist from Tonasket.

A quantity of lavender from a Summerland garden is being sent by the arts and crafts committee of the Women's Institute to Fort St. John, the most northern WI in British Columbia. The committee convened by Mrs. H. C. Whitaker, assisted by Mrs. T. C. Orr, Mrs. Gordon Ritchie and Mrs. Sandy Fenwick, has written a note to the branch at Fort St. John hoping that this bonus of the Okanagan summer may be of help to them in their work.

Rev. Raymond Tingley, secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society paid his annual visit to this place on Friday and addressed a large gathering in the Free Methodist church in the evening. Mr. Tingley showed films of the work being done by the society in which continuing interest is shown locally. The Tingley family were residents of Sackville, N.B., and Roger Tingley, B. A. Tingley, and Mrs. Gordon Robertson, are cousins of Rev. Raymond Tingley.

C. W. Avery drove down from Terrace arriving Sunday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Angus.

Air Marshall G. M. Croll, AFC, CBE, of West Vancouver, visited during the weekend at the home of his brother, T. M. Croll.

Mrs. Hugh Sharman has gone to Vancouver for the winter months, having driven to the coast with her daughter, Mrs. H. Freeman, who came to fetch her.

Mrs. A. J. Mann entertained on Monday evening in honor of Campbell Tingley, distinguished water colorist of Montreal, who has been visiting his mother at Naramata. While here Mr. Tingley has been painting the October scene in and around Naramata and Mrs. Mann invited a number of artists from south Okanagan points to meet the visitor and to see some of his lovely pictures.

"Desert Song" In Technicolor Now Showing At Capitol

Warner Bros.' new Technicolor production of "The Desert Song," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre, brings to the screen as co-stars for the first time, two of America's most popular singing screen stars, Kathryn Grayson and Gordon MacRae.

The beautiful Miss Grayson portrays the flirtatious Margot, and MacRae is cast as the legendary El Khobar, leader of the Rif. A third star is rugged Steve Cochran playing the suave Captain Fontaine of the French Foreign Legion.

The glorious music of Sigmond Romberg is blended to a modern-day tale of desert adventure and romance as Gordon MacRae leads his embattled Rif fighters against the treachery of an unscrupulous sheik in order to win the favor of his people and the love of the beguiling Margot.

Allyn McLerie and Dick Weston have important featured roles in the colorful movie which was directed by Bruce Humberstone and produced for Warner Bros. by Rudi Fehr.

Mrs. G. P. Tinker and Miss Dorothy Robinson left yesterday to motor to Spokane where they will holiday until the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald and family are taking up residence this weekend on their orchard which they purchased from John Bibby last spring. Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Reid, who have been living on the orchard for sometime are moving to Mather's lakeside cottage in the Naramata village.

The opening ceremonies at the school will commence at 2:30 p.m. and an invitation is extended to the public to attend. Among the various items being arranged for the afternoon program are an address of welcome by a guest church leader, the dedication of the home for the vice-principal of the school which is nearing completion and in which Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Woolard will take up residence, and the serving of afternoon tea at the conclusion of the opening ceremonies.

Colored slides taken while Miss Lila Dicken was teaching school at Fort St. John last year will be shown on the evening of November 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reilly. Summerland Rotary Club Hears History Of Cowichan Valley SUMMERLAND — Summerland Rotary Club was entertained following dinner last Friday evening by an address by Rev. C. O. Richmond on the Cowichan valley.

Mr. Richmond discussed the Indians and their conditions before the white man came telling of the time when they indulged in potlaches, "the native cocktail party". For many years the Indians had been fishermen and attempts to turn them into farmers have not been successful, he said. The most prosperous Indians today, continued the speaker, are those who stayed with the sea.

The first white settlement in the Cowichan valley was established about 45 years ago. Mr. Richmond related, and gave details of early lumbering methods in contrast with present day operations. He commented on how wasteful methods of earlier days were being overcome.

He told, also, of attempts at reforestation and difficulties encountered in these efforts. Amusingly enough, he said, deer there do not bother natural young growth, but when the trees are set out in regular rows they follow them and eat the tops.

The speaker was introduced by Ross McLachlan and J. W. Mitchell thanked him for his interesting talk.

P-TA News

Members of the PTA are reminded of the third in a series of Citizens' Forum broadcasts to be heard over the CBC Trans-Canada network tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

Taking the form of a panel discussion, the topic will be "Do Parents Have Enough Say in Education?" Those taking part in the broadcast will delve into many aspects of the situation, such as: a look at the system, changing attitudes, where do parents have a say, the parent and public opinion, visits and conferences, do parents use their opportunities wisely, are parents trouble-makers, what about the professional educators and co-operation on curriculum.

Listeners are asked to report on the following questions: On what school matters do you think parents should have a say? Are there matters which should be left to the professional, trained educator? What factors tend to create friction, misunderstanding and lack of mutual respect between parents and educators? How can these be dealt with? How can parents get to know more about the educational system?

Badminton Club At Summerland Hold Fall Dance

SUMMERLAND — The first of the fund-raising fall dances by the Badminton Club was held on Saturday evening in the badminton hall. Organized by the president and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Welsh, assisted by club members, the affair was successful.

The jolly event was patterned on traditional Hallowe'en customs for decoration with the orange colors as arranged by Mrs. Ted Piers adding brightness to the hall.

Refreshments were served under the convenship of Miss Dorothy Britton, and results augured well for future interest and fun.

BY SID GODBER

Suppose this should be blue Wednesday — in case you haven't heard the V's lost again to the Vernon Canadians, lost 8-5 after holding a 5-3 edge up to the last minute of the second period. But I can take that loss and almost like it. A line was born last night. It's been a long time in the nest but last night after many tumbles it found its wings. Take a bow Andy Defelice, Remi Brisson and "Babe" McAvoy.

Goalkeeping spelled the difference between victory and defeat, not to mention defensive lapses. Ivan McLelland wasn't up to standard, while Johnny Sofiak was really sharp but that same Sofiak was a most unhappy man for most of the sixty minutes of hockey, in which he stopped a hurricane of blistering attacks.

A win is always easier to take than a licking, but tally up the odds. Jack McIntyre playing in the first period with an injured back, sustained in practice Monday night, but trying to stay on the ice. He had to cry "uncle" after one period. Then Andy Defelice, who really hit his stride, had to sit out the third period nursing a sprained knee. Grant Warwick cut down by Dick Butler caught a nasty one and was slowed in that last period, although he had to keep going. Alibi, not on your life. As I see it we had the team for two periods of hockey, while we had it, we gave the Canadians a thorough going-over. The last period was no measuring stick.

We do need some stiffening. One or two more players of the ex-pro variety — but with such stiffening, if and when, we'll have a team that will make anything in this valley, including Vernon, sit up and take notice.

Grant Warwick must have been really pooped when he missed that sitter in the third period. Sofiak out of position, a nice angle to shoot from and Grant pumped it past the fat post. Had Grant scored that one, there might have been a different outcome. The Canadians were up and on that play got away to their eighth goal to put the game on ice.

And so we have still to beat the Canadians — we will. If the V's have got to lose I wish they'd lose in such a fashion that a man in my spot could write they were well and truly beaten. But it isn't happening that way. The V's haven't lost a game this season that a few good breaks and a few less bad ones wouldn't have transferred to the win column.

I don't want to knock Kelowna's Saturday win. The Packers played the game for all it was worth, but the victory, despite the doubled up score, hinged more on breaks than on the Packers' superiority. Breaks — plus a Jack-in-the-Box goal, who values his head as less than Henry VIII valued the noggins of his wives.

Bad breaks for the V's — Durban's offside goal; referee George Cullen in the wrong spot to see Al Laface carry the puck across the goal line on his first, before he nosedived to come up with the rubber safely on the right side of the crease. That was a Bill Warwick effort and a goal by everything in the book.

Enough right there to have kept the V's in the game if they had been called right.

Discount the breaks, good and bad, and Kelowna's win can be summed up this way. They fore and backchecked the V's off balance and Al Laface provided the knockout punch. Offensively the V's had a hard time over the visitors. Shots on goal were split within one shot, but the V's were the more dangerous. Defensively the Packers play a great game. Jim Hanson in particular turning in a performance way above his usual form. Don Johnston and Hanson elected themselves subsidiary goal keepers and stopped more than did Laface.

Dunno whether to laud Laface for bravery or berate him for being foolhardy. That 36-year-old sure does take chances. He dives into anything and everything. Foolhardy or not — it paid off for the Packers and while the V's were held to three goals the Packers were pumping six by McLelland.

Spent most of Saturday night wondering where the V's defence system of the early part of the season had gone. Same players, same coach — but a long way from the same team.

The V's showed against the New Westminster Royals, against Kamloops and to a lesser degree against Vernon Canadians that they could skate both ways, but latterly, those wings aren't getting back; defence men have a tendency to wander out of position and the result — although the V's are carrying the play and for the most part outshooting everything in the league — the opposition is able to capitalize on the breaks and sift through for goals.

Those Packers are going to get better and they're not going to be easy pickings for any team in this league. Phil Hergesheimer — (when is that guy going to hang up his skates?) has something in young Paul Brilliant. Wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't turn out to be the fastest man in the league. Don Culley is fitting in with the Packers like a piece in a jig saw puzzle. That knack of his of being in the right place at the right time has given him two goals against the V's and he hasn't had to sweat for them.

Commercials In Dire Need Of Hockey Players

The commercial hockey league has the dragnet out for at least ten more players to build up the player pool against impending retirements in all of the four teams. The league shrunk considerably when many of the older men quit the game at the close of last season.

With the opening of commercial action this year the teams found as many as eight of the old gang missing with not nearly enough new blood to fill the gap. Even with the disbanding of the Packers team and spreading their strength over the other four teams, the player situation remains tight.

Anyone wishing to play hockey with the league need only to get in touch with league chairman Scotty Gordon or George Morrish of the executive.

SOCCER TEAM CAPTURES OK CHAMPIONSHIP

The Pen Hi Senior Boys soccer team capped the Southern Okanagan Valley Championship on Saturday in Oliver as they defeated the Oliver High School team 3-0.

This was the second victory in a row for the Penticton boys and the second shut out. They defeated Princeton in King's Park two weeks ago 5-0.

The team now advances into the valley finals on November 14 against the winners of the central and northern league.

Saturday the scoring was started off by the local's tricky forward George "Babe" Brochu as the second half got underway.

The second goal was scored on a picture play as the ball went from centre half Len Lavick to inside right Mo Ishikawa to outside left Grant Macdonald who booted it home. The third goal was scored by Ted Smith from a difficult angle to salt the game away.

Players Must Be Signed By Nov. 8

The business end of the Penticton and district commercial hockey league is getting down to brass tacks in the next few days on the work of preparing the player roster.

The executive have given notice that all players must be registered by no later than November 8. Signing up also includes payment of fees. They are anxious to get this part of the organization cleaned up so as to have the decks clear before the schedule advances further.

Good Hoop Talent But Need Leader

Action in the men's senior basketball circle has been anything but brisk the last couple of weeks. There seems little question that a team will be formed and top-notch material is not lacking. However, the players need a leader to turn them into a first rate hoop club and that seems to be a difficult spot to fill this year.

The senior girls team is in little better shape as the start of the basketball season comes along and they, too, are in need of someone to take the helm.

The grouse season closes this Sunday. In this district it has been open for a month.

Vernon Canadians strengthened their hold on the top spot of the OSAHL last night in Penticton arena as they handed the V's a second loss in three games with a free-wheeling third period blitz that left Grant Warwick's crew behind 8-5.

The difference in the game lay at opposite ends of the ice — a netminder's battle all the way. The V's blasted 30 shots at Johnny Sofiak in the Vernon net and although five got by him, his performance was heartbreaking for the V's.

Down at the other end of the rink Ivan McLelland handled 30 shots but eight slipped by, it was an off night for Ivan. Years of experience in picking holes around netminders stood the Canadians in good stead as Don McLelland, Leo Lucchini, Dick Butler, Jack Miller, George Agar and Bing Jukes each blinked the red light.

Although beaten by three goals, the V's played a terrific game against the tough Vernon Agarmen and for the first time gave fans a glimpse of hitherto latent power in their forward lines. Andy Defelice, long overdue in the scoring department, punched home two of the V's five markers. Grant Warwick, Don Berry and Ron Montgomery picked off singles.

The V's matched goals with Canadians through a blazing first frame that saw five goals scored in the first ten minutes of the game. Defelice scoring from Brissom and "Babe" McAvoy at 17:33 tied the count at 3-3 as the period ended.

It seemed certain the V's would lose the middle stanza with a two point margin as a marker early in the period and Don Berry's deft shot at 17:40 boosted their tally to 5-3. But with less than a minute left to play, Don Jakes teed off on a rink long solo spin around three dodgie V's to slip the rubber between McLelland's legs.

A Miller from Butler play tied the count at 5-5 in the opening minutes of the final period and the Canadians went on to widen the gap with two quick goals at the halfway mark.

V's showed signs of losing their grip on the game as the minutes ticked off to a scant few and that two point margin for Vernon loomed large as a mountain and just as hard to move.

Dick Butler sounded the final triumphant note for Canadians on a beautiful rushing play with Bill Geary and Jack Miller to chop off the count at 8-5.

Canadians took the heavy side of 17 penalties, serving nine minors and two misconduct sentences while the V's totalled up six minor infractions and one misconduct.

V's missed the services of Jack

They're here again Friday — those Packers. They're coming with blood in their eyes — determined to break the jinx which kept them winless on Penticton ice all last season and which extended into this season with the V's 5-3 win in the first game between the clubs here last Friday night.

Honors are even. V's won their first game on Penticton ice and the Packers smashed back with a 6-3 victory on Kelowna ice last Saturday.

This was more than was expected of the Kelowna club. They opened the season by absorbing two sound drubbings from the high riding Vernon Canadians, but came back to knock off Kimberley, the Kamloops Elks, to climb into second place in the league. Packers also hold the distinction of being the first to down the top place Vernon team.

Kelowna's comeback started with the discovery of a jewel in their own backyard in the person of 36-year-old Laface, whose spectacular goal keeping has snatched victory from defeat time and time again for the Packers.

With big Jim Hanson sparkling on defence backed by ex-V Don Johnston, with rugged, hard hitting Gus Bohuniky and Bo Carlson, the Packers aided by the unorthodox, but highly efficient Mr. Laface, play for the breaks.

ANGY DEFELICE... two overdue markers laying well forward, a tactic made to order for ex-V Don Culley who has been floating with considerable effect for coach Phil Hergesheimer.

Hergesheimer, too, is a surprise. For two seasons now, it has been freely predicted that it would be his last on skates, but "Phantom" Phil is out again this season, skating with his team, scoring the timely goal and generally behaving as a man his age shouldn't to the annoyance of the opposition.

Hergie's unchallenged ability to size up the opposition and introduce counter measures, also

CAL SCOUTING THIRD LINE IN JUVENILES

"I am still scouting for a third line to fill out a really top-notch juvenile club," said Cal Callahan on Monday as the maroon and gold of the BCD's verge on their debut into the hockey season.

"We have a good boy between the pipes, a solid defence and two good forward lines," related Cal in a fast rundown of the team he feels sure will more than hold their own against anything in the valley. He went on to say that there was no shortage of tryouts but found there were far too few good skaters.

The boys were given a chance to show their stuff but many of them were getting hurt because they could not stay on their feet through the tough checking and play along the boards. Callahan turned them loose to find a berth in less vigorous puck chasing company with the encouraging word that there is always another season coming up.

Not exactly giving up hope of finding another forward line before the team gets into action, Callahan nonetheless drew the line for today. If no attacking trio comes out of the blue at practice today, he will play two lines with two fill-ins to spell off any of the regulars who start dragging.

The 1953-54 edition of the juveniles will be a young club with two or three years ahead in this class of hockey for most of the players. Although Cal is confident that with the coaching juveniles are getting they can overcome the difference of only seven or eight practice hours compared with something like 34 hours for the Vernon team, he doesn't hide the fact that it will take a year for the teaching to really show up.

In that time he says, "we'll have as good a juvenile hockey setup as any western city — including the prairies. There need be nothing to stop our boys from going right up to the senior ranks," was Callahan's parting challenge.

Decide Top Spot In Commercial League Sunday

Second round of the commercial hockey league takes to the arena ice Sunday at 1:30 as Merchants and Summerland, the victors of last Sunday's opening fixture, battle for top spot in the four team loop.

In the second game of the afternoon Contractors will engage Garagemen, the outcome of which will give a more definite picture of club strength.

Summerland, fast and rugged, is favored to win but Merchants have proved themselves a club to be reckoned with and this should prove a battle royal. Contractors and Garagemen are well matched but unless Garagemen can dress more than the nine players of last game, Contractors could take the edge with superior staying power.

MATHER WINS REID TROPHY: LADY GOLFERS END CUP PLAY

A consistent winner these last few weeks, Mrs. Gladys Mather outshot Mrs. Mabel Thom Sunday to take the finals in the Grace Reid golf trophy competition.

Top spot in the fight for this competition, which is set for handicappers 25 to 35 only and which drew the heaviest entry in years, was won by Mrs. Edith Southworth when she defeated Mrs. Rose Moore on the same day.

These two matches wind up the last of the cup play for the ladies' section for this year. Vice-captain Mary Johnson's crew is very busy meanwhile thumbing through the cookbook, as it seems certain they must provide the potluck supper on November 5 at the clubhouse.

President Mrs. Madeline Arsens has also called the general meeting at that time and all women golf members are urged to attend.

Woman must make up her mind, definitely, for tomorrow's calendar event, for it is a one-club competition, and the stick she chooses is the only one she takes out on the course with her for the nine-hole round. The draw follows:

Evelyn Johnston, Gwen DeBeck; Pearl Betts, Rose Moore; Madeline Arsens, Queenie Asman; Frances Latimer, Connie McGown; Zella Latimer, Edith Southworth; Mary Perkins, Maureen Joplin; Gladys Mather, Lorne Mitchell; Nellie Dahnes, Billie Jamieson; Mary Johnson, Esther Cooper; Jean Marlow, Rene Burch; Aileen Lawson, Hilda Cowie; Anna Lye, Octavia Jones.

Doug Barnes, 516 Alexander avenue, won Trev's Boat Rental annual Okanagan Lake fish derby with an eight pounder.

Outdoors with Cec Brett

I hunted pheasants on Sunday with Curt Miller and his black labrador, Dixie. We got a bird apiece and lost a couple but were quite satisfied that we had got our limit for that particular day.

Everyone who owned a dog, and eight times as many who didn't were out pheasant hunting. The lucky ones who were out on Saturday had wised up to the fact that there was a shooting war on and had driven them into the deepest cover. That's my alibi. Dixie worked hard for us and flushed longtails that even Herb Geddes couldn't have drawn without the help of a good bird dog.

I still maintain, as I have stated in this column before, that pheasants (and ducks) should be restricted to hunters who own, or use, a good retriever.

The day may come when you go to apply for your pheasant tags that you will have to give the following information.

Name of dog Breed Sex (if any) Age

Length of nose Experience (in hunting)

I think the game wardens should be more interested in the above information than that the hunter is 48 years old with light hair and blood-shot eyes weighing 190 pounds with his shotgun permanently plugged.

I have treated this lightly but it is a serious matter and I would like to see a complete revision of the game act to bring it up to date to findings and recommendations of our game department and their biologists.

To get back to the clear pure outdoors. John Coe and son Jim had good pheasant shooting in the Cawston area on opening day. They got their limit without much effort. Jim presented me with one bird that had 32 bars on its tail and, although not a record, was one of the largest that I have seen in the district.

I didn't get the details but I hear that George Drossos of the Three Gables hotel brokered them a deal to come to the Cariboo this year. It had a near record set of horns and I wouldn't be surprised to see it starting at me the next time I go into the Three Gables Hotel.

Jack Lundy, Curly Campbell and Don Barrett has a successful trip to the Canal Flats area. They each got a white-tail deer and Jack got a shot at a moose. The moose didn't know what hit him. He ran away.

Adam Monks, our game warden, tells me quite a few deer have been taken on Bald Mountain and that in his opinion there are more deer now than there has been for the last few years. He attributes this to the coyote control, by means of poisoned baits, and the mild winter of last year.

Murray Cousins and Gerry Hewitt made a quick trip up Anarchist Mountain on Monday morning and by nine o'clock were skinning their deer. One a white-tail and the other a mule deer. How lucky can you get!

Fishing has not been washed up for the year by any means and both Skaha and Okanagan lakes are producing some nice catches. The first three days of the pheasant season Curt Miller has been fishing in the mornings and hunting in the afternoons. "What a life! (I think he is on holidays).

H. Brunner caught five nice fish on Sunday in Okanagan lake. He was using a Gibbs Ruby eyed Wiggler and said he wasn't on the lake long enough to get cold.

I have had no reports of steelhead fishing in the Thompson River this last week, but I should have a good diagnosis of it for next week's column.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

By TED SMITH

Pen Hi won its first championship of the year on Saturday when the senior boys' soccer team won its second game to take the Southern Okanagan Valley Championship, downing Oliver 3-0.

The junior boys did not fare so well in their practice game as Oliver juniors edged them 1-0 in a hotly contested session.

Pen Hi girls' soccer team did not have the ability or team work that the boys teams mustered. In their first fixtures of the season the Summerland senior girls walloped the locals 5-0. At the same time, in another park in Summerland, the junior girls were being beaten to the tune of 3-0.

HOOPSTERS READY
Now comes the chance for everyone in Pen Hi to get behind the sports in our school. The basketball season is upon us and the 1953-54 Okanagan Valley High School League has been announced. The senior "A" boys and girls will play in a much enlarged league this year, extending from Kamloops to Oliver, inclusive. Also in the league are Vernon and Kelowna with just one home and home series scheduled.

The Lakers and Lakettes will see their first action of the season on Saturday night when the Kelowna High School invades Pen Hi for a Halloween exhibition fixture. This is your chance to start off the year with a bang. Be on hand to support

Ice Times Set For Midget Practice

Midget practice times have now been definitely established and although there may be the occasional change through the season, the following schedule will hold for the present. Details are as follows:

Monday, 6:30 a.m. Flyers team with coach Gerry O'Hara; Tuesday, 6:30 a.m. team No. 3 with coach Russ Desautels; Tuesday, 4:30 p.m. Legion team with coach Paul Masalanko; Thursday, 6:30 a.m., Rotary team with coach Bruce Campbell.

Wednesday morning at 6:30 the juveniles practice with Cal Callahan coaching.

In the commercial league, Summerland and Contractor teams practice at 10:30 p.m. to night and the following evening, Merchants and Garagemen teams have the ice at 10 o'clock.

BY BOB MORRISON

Four Penticton and district commercial hockey teams got their first taste of competitive puck chasing Sunday in a two-game season opener that gave the fans — and there were quite a few of them — three hours of top-notch entertainment. They dished up plenty of that particular brand of hockey that is always good sport to witness because it is strictly home-brew talent, producing an exciting flavor all of its own.

There will be no love lost between Garagemen and Summerland in the commercial hockey league this season. Neither club left anything to the imagination as they slugged it out in the opening fixture of the schedule last Sunday in the arena.

The Garagemen, with Bill Roberts masterminding, came as close as you can get to breaking a record that has stood for two years, so we heard, from the sidelines. Garagemen lost to Summerland 5-4 after leading the visiting crew through the first period 1-0, the second frame 3-1 and up until half time in the final stanza had Summerland down 4-2.

But the jinx that has kept Garagemen from winning a game from this club for two years reared its ugly head in the form of Rocky Richardson, scoring unassisted, George Taylor scoring from Richardson and Bill Croft unassisted for the winning goal with just 55 seconds left in the game.

It was all over inside of a few seconds but Garagemen demonstrated they have the material to threaten the Herald Cup holders and later engagements may explode that jinx — all credit due the Richardson crew.

Mori Bird opened the scoring for Garagemen at 11:00 mark in the first period. Barney Furruys tied the count for Summerland early in the second. Garagemen jumped into the lead as Henry Tomlin and Mac Collins each blinked the red light unassisted late in the second period. Richardson opened the third period scoring Summerland's second marker but less than a minute later Dennis Wyatt bounced Garagemen into 4-2 position on a play with Mori Bird and Jack Newton. What followed has been told — Summerland were not to be denied in the opening tilt.

Ben Corrigan and Tommy White set themselves up as a dangerous duo when they opened the Merchant scoring in the early minutes of the game — Corrigan from White — then duplicated the play at 10:30 in the second to put their club out front 2-1. Charlie Burch levelled off the count in the first period as he scored for Contractors on a play with Walt Holowaty and Gerry Byers.

Byers boosted Contractors hopes at the tail end of the second period blinking the red light on a solo play to again tie the game, 2-2.

Contractors lost their grip as Merchants' Drossos found the mark on a relay from Dick Getz and again on a breakaway Drossos scoring from Jim McLean to give them a two point winning margin.

Oddly enough, neither club served time in the sin bin.

OLD FEUD RENEWED AS V'S TRIM PACKERS 5-3 FRIDAY

V's and Packers proved they had lost none of the special brand of rivalry that marked their engagements in the OSAHL last season as Grant Warwick's crew came through with a 5-3 win when these two clubs locked horns for the first time this year. The win keeps intact the record set up last season when Kelowna failed to out-point V's at any time on their home ice.

Playing on home ice Friday, the V's matched goals with Kelowna in the second period as both clubs by-passed a ragged and close checking first frame with out blinking the red light. V's had a 3-2 margin as they plunged into the final period but Kelowna killed that slim lead in the opening minutes and the heat was really on.

At 15:56 Bill Warwick tipped in a backhand shot from brother Grant to turn the tide but the situation became more than perilous as two penalties threw the V's away off balance. George McAvoy and Don Culley got the finger for spearing and high-sticking each other at 17:47. The V's power was slashed again less than two minutes later as Kay Conway joined McAvoy in the sin bin for holding.

Packer coach Phil Hergesholmer took quick appraisal of the situation and with just 25 seconds left in the game, pulled Al Laface from the net to play five men up. Ten seconds after the faceoff Grant Warwick got his stick on the loose puck and rifled it from the blueline at a tough angle for the insurance marker.

Although the first frame was far from spectacular, the V's took the edge, outshooting the Packers 7-13 and as the game came alive in the last two thirds they continued to give Al Laface the bad end of the ice with a total of 45 shots on goal for the game while McLelland had 22 shots to handle. Playing coach Phil Hergesholmer opened the scoring in the opening minutes of the second period but Dick Warwick evened the count less than two minutes later on a play inspired by Grant Warwick and assisted by brother Bill.

V's stepped into the lead at 8:53 as Remi Brissom banged home a rebound from behind the net on a play with Ron Montgomery for his first marker of the season. The lead was short lived as Don Culley scored unassisted when McLelland came far out of the net to trip a loose

CONTRACTORS, MERCHANTS

There wasn't much to choose between Contractors and Merchants in the first and second period of their debut in the commercial league opener. In the final stanza George Drossos made the difference with two well spaced markers that spelled 4-2 victory for Northrop's Merchants.

Contractors had the blueprint for a win all laid out and their fast passing attacks pushed the Merchants hard but they just didn't have the finish around the net. Don Moog proved he can keep the area between the pipes well covered for the Merchants while Cliff Petrie defending the Contractors' cage, proved the hard luck netminder of the afternoon.

On two occasions Petrie successfully blocked tough shots only to have Merchants score as the rubber slipped away from him.

Ben Corrigan and Tommy White set themselves up as a dangerous duo when they opened the Merchant scoring in the early minutes of the game — Corrigan from White — then duplicated the play at 10:30 in the second to put their club out front 2-1.

Charlie Burch levelled off the count in the first period as he scored for Contractors on a play with Walt Holowaty and Gerry Byers.

Byers boosted Contractors hopes at the tail end of the second period blinking the red light on a solo play to again tie the game, 2-2.

Contractors lost their grip as Merchants' Drossos found the mark on a relay from Dick Getz and again on a breakaway Drossos scoring from Jim McLean to give them a two point winning margin.

Oddly enough, neither club served time in the sin bin.

BETTER TIMBER AND WILDLIFE

The forest industry of B.C. is presently being transformed from a great logging operation into an even larger operation of applied forestry. From a background of clear cutting mature timber, the industry and forest service are swinging into a program which envisions sustained yield, selective cutting, harvest and salvage for pulp mills, reforestation and better fire protection. In other words they seek to keep the timber producing land in production of the wood crop best suited. A cutting schedule for sustained timber yield will tend to level the production of game crops; the present wild fluctuation will be modified. This will benefit wildlife recreation.

PACKERS' LAFACE TOO HOT FOR V'S: LOSE IN KELOWNA 6-3

KELOWNA — Ironman Phil Hergesheimer led his Kelowna Packers to a 6-3 victory over the Penticton V's here Saturday, bunting the Peach City club out of second place seat in the OSAHL before the V's had a chance to warm it.

The Saturday win for the Packers made it an even trade in the first home and home series between the arch rivals this season, the V's winning at Penticton on Friday night 5-3.

The Dominion of Ceylon has a large export trade in precious stones, chiefly rubies and sapphires.

Veteran netminder Al Laface turned in a cool performance for the Packers that was just slightly short of sensational as he robbed the V's from start to finish to give about 2,500 Kelownians a high, pleasant temperature that left no doubts about his ability between the pipes.

It was a typical Kelowna-Penticton clash, witnessed by the largest crowd the arena here has sheltered so far this season.

Packers took the lead at exactly midway in the first period and were never topped. Jim Hanson, playing a superb defensive game, added to his laurels by scoring the first two goals, both from the point, to put the visitors well and truly behind the eight ball.

Dickie Warwick plugged in the V's first goal, but the V's never drew abreast of the Packers as Hergesheimer blasted in the third goal for the Packers early in the third period to be followed by Mike Durban.

Down 4-1, the V's kept hustling and Grant Warwick whittled down the overhead to have his goal wiped out by Don Culley. Middleton sagged the home for Kelowna's juicy sixth while the V's Jack McIntyre, who played a strong game throughout, found a small chink in Al Laface's armor at 16:37 for the V's third and last goal of the game.

A glance at statistics shows Penticton led in nearly all departments but the most important one: goals. They had 29 shots on goal to Kelowna's 24, and received eight two-minute penalties to the winners' four.

Two of the night's goals came as a result of penalties. Hanson scored his second goal at 12:40 of the second when McAvoy was serving a stretch for allowing, and Dick Warwick beat Laface papuntyous now suspended at the 13:52 mark of the same period.

SUMMARY
First period — (1), Kelowna, Hanson (Durban, Hergesheimer) 10:01. Penalties — Berry, Durban, Bohonoky, George McAvoy, Conway, Helndi.

Second period — (2), Kelowna, Hanson (Bo Carlson) 12:40; (3), Penticton, Dick Warwick, 13:53. Penalties — Carlson, Kilburn, McAvoy.

Third period — (4), Kelowna, Hergesheimer (Madanaka, Middleton) 1:52; (5), Kelowna, Durban, (Culley) 5:31; (6) Penticton, Grant Warwick, (Bill Warwick) 6:54; (7) Kelowna, Culley (Durban, Lea) 12:50; (8) Kelowna, Middleton (Hoskins, Carlson) 15:09; (9) McIntyre (Conway) 16:37. Penalties — Johnston, Dick Warwick, Bill Warwick.
Shots on goal — Penticton 9, 6, 14 — 29. Kelowna, 11, 5, 12 — 28.

FOSTER HEWITT

When the 1953-54 hockey season got under way, Foster Hewitt, Canada's best-known sports commentator was celebrating 23 years of broadcasting play-by-play accounts of the great Canadian sport. His vivid descriptions of NHL games from the Maple Leaf Gardens are heard each week during the winter months by an estimated audience of 5,000,000 sports fans in Canada and the United States. By way of the exciting voice on CBC networks, Saturday night has truly become "Hockey Night in Canada".

Many of us are afraid of lightning — some so frightened they hide in the basement — yet they wouldn't go a block out of the way to get a chest x-ray to make sure their lungs are healthy. Maybe they don't know that the danger of being struck by TB is easily 500 times greater than danger from lightning. Well, you can't do much about lightning but you can do something about TB — and right now... you can buy Christmas Seals and help prevent TB.

Bill Warwick Top Scorer With Seven Goals, Seven Assists

Vernon Canadians stayed right at the top of the heap for another week as the official figures from OSAHL league statistician Chuck Blacklock reveals the facts of seven games, including Friday, October 23.

Although the league positions remain the same, the big ten scorers rundown came in for revision as Bill Warwick took over top position. Bill was fifth on the list last week with three goals, four assists in four games. He now leads with a lucky trio seven—seven goals, seven assists in seven games.

Ivan McLelland's average between the pipes is still best of the quartet.

On The Sidelines

BY BOB MORRISON

Want to place any bets on the fate of football in the Okanagan? Long odds are likely if you are betting for the gridiron sport in the face of the tremendous craze for hockey.

But the fact remains that the valley now has two clubs in uniform and, believe it or not, they are making money. The gate here for the Thanksgiving tilt with Kamloops was so small that everybody had a good seat on the fifty yard line but on the other hand, expenses are relatively small.

I am willing to bet a thin dime that if Kamloops and Penticton squads — and maybe a third team — can make a toehold in the next couple of seasons, the popularity of football here will zoom upwards.

I'll risk that dime on the strength of a brief talk with Jack St. Mars, of the B.C. Lions football organization, who was in town a couple of weeks ago. He reiterated stories, which have appeared in the coast papers, of the Lions entering the Western Interprovincial Football Union, with every football club in the province a possible prospect for material.

When the Lions get under full sail next year the gridiron fever that grips the prairie cities throughout the fall will no doubt spread across B.C. Here at home the Marauders and Kamloops squads can expect a little of the interest to rub off on them.

The Kamloops vs. Marauders game in Kelowna this Sunday may spark sufficient interest in that city to get a team going there next year, and if that comes about, the stage is set for a really decisive step to establish the sport in the valley. Grants, neither Bernie Hauschka or Neil McElroy are happy with the spirit of Marauders as demonstrated by the turnout of just twelve players for the last engagement against Kamloops but they are not without hope. That hope is justified by the enthusiasm of the younger boys and it appears certain that next year's edition of the Penticton club will be junior class.

That is what Hauschka and McElroy are aiming at, for if three junior squads are formed in the valley and are registered as such, the top gridiron club at the coast will have to meet them for at least playoff games to gain the right to represent B.C. in interprovincial junior playdowns. With home and home games, you take your gate and we'll take ours, sort of deal, valley clubs have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

MINOR TIME

The minor hockey executive would like to get up and yell about the lack of sufficient time on the only sheet of ice in Penticton larger than an ice cube, to make it known how Bill Lemm, Cal Celahach and Art Fisher feel. How much time do they have? Easiest way to find out is to look at the arena schedule, published in this issue, add up the minor hockey time and divide by the number of minor hockey teams. If you have trouble working with fractions, just give the answer "too little" and you will be pretty close to correct. No solutions offered — just a picture of the situation.

WINGS, LEAFS WIN BANTAM HOCKEY TILTS

The Red Wings appear to be the team to beat in the Penticton Minor Hockey Association's bantam league. On Saturday they defeated the Black Hawks 10-1 in a regular league game.

This was beyond all understanding as the Red Wings had only seven players to the Black Hawks' fourteen. Ken Cochrane was the ball of fire on Red Wings team as he banged home six of the team's goals. Other markers were notched by Arlitt who scored two, and O'Connell and Oderozzi, one each.

In the other Saturday afternoon game the Maple Leafs defeated the Bruins 3-1. It was strictly a two-man affair as far as the goal scoring went for the Leafs as John Zibin picked up two goals and one assist and Harold Sato earned one goal and two assists.

SUMMARIES:

First game — First period; 1. Leafs, Zibin (Sato) 10:30; 2. Leafs, Zibin (Sato) 12:15; 3. Bruins, Wendley (unassisted) 13:50; 4. Sato (Zibin) 15:30. Penalties, Hill, Goodman, Kelly, McCrady.

Second period; no goals. No penalties.

Third period; no goals, no penalties.

Second game — First period; 1. Wings, Cochrane, unassisted, 8:30; 2. Wings, Oderozzi, unassisted, 9:45; 3. Wings, Cochrane (Arlitt) 10:30; 4. Hawks, Nausen (Stallord) 17:15; 5. Wings, Cochrane unassisted, 19:10.

Second period — No goals. Penalties, Byers.

Third period — 6. Oderozzi (O'Connell) 2:45; 7. Wings (O'Connell) unassisted, 2:50; 8. Wings, Cochrane (O'Connell) 3:28; 9. Wings, Arlitt (O'Connell) 5:40; 10. Wings, Arlitt, unassisted, 8:03; 11. Wings, Cochrane, unassisted, 9:14. Penalties, Strahl.

Tuberculosis had thousands of years start on the human race. In fact it's less than 100 years since science unearthed the secret of its spread. Humanity has been forging ahead ever since but there is still a lot to be done if five million deaths a year are to be prevented and a new era of help. Dr. T. H. Anstey Addresses BCFGA

Difference Between Soviet And West Thinking Extends To Biology, Growers Learn

Apparently the "difference of opinion" between the Soviet and the West extends into the field of biology, as well as economics and other more generally known spheres. This was clearly shown in the first address given to the Penticton local of the BCFGA by Dr. T. H. Anstey, new superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland.

Title of the address was "Plant Breeding and its Sociological Implications." Said the speaker in introducing it, "This sounds like a 'long-haired' topic, but we'll use a pair of scissors and cut it off to a short one." Far from being "long-haired", the talk was short, pithy and full of food for thought.

Tracing the beginnings of biology from its early dawn in the cave-man days, when these remote forebears of the race used it for the purpose of breeding dogs and other domestic animals, Dr. Anstey next touched upon the Babylonian days, when, from their records, it was apparent that the bisexual nature of plants was known. There are many other allusions to these facts in ancient writings, he said, but following this there appeared to be a period, through the "dark ages", when little progress was made.

Then, in 1871 Thomas Fairchild, the father of all biology, made his studies and experiments, being the first to artificially hybridize plants for the production of seed. A French seed firm, still in business, was established with his aid.

Additional steps were made, culminating with Darwin and his "Origin of the Species", which formed a broad base for a much wider investigation. But the big break in breeding came in 1900, with the discovery of the writings of Mendel (who had written in 1866) this, with some modifications, formed the root-stock of today's developments.

Dr. Anstey outlined the method in which the Mendelian law works using the sweet pea as example, citing the "law of Dominance" and the "law of Segregation" and similar rules established by Mendel. There have been some modifications of Mendel's work, but his laws still stand.

Prior to Mendel's discoveries being made known, there were many theories, including one that "an acquired characteristic could be inherited". Actually, said Dr. Anstey, there is some truth in this, but fundamentally it is incorrect.

Having outlined the biological base, the speaker then went on to the second phase of his talk, first citing the early work of some Russian scientists, and then the efforts of Lysenko, who adapted laws to the Russian way of thinking, which reverts, in some degree, to the old idea of the inheritance of acquired characteristics.

Lysenko and his aides contended that if the environment changes, then so will the plant or animal — or man himself — change. While there is a modicum of truth in this, environment cannot completely change a species, and the Russian attempt to do so is only a further effort to justify their theories of that by regimenting society to certain patterns, they can force humans to inherently conform to that pattern, so that the "acquired characteristics" as outlined in their form of society, would become a biological part of their make-up as a race.

But the Mendelian law has shown that even although environment is changed, the essentials remain constant, the speaker affirmed.

Turning to other phases of biological study, Dr. Anstey touched upon the development of hybrids through use of Mendelian laws. Ninety-nine percent of corn grown today is of the hybrid type; and the knowledge and use of Mendel's laws has increased the yield of this one plant by 700,000,000 bushels. Use of the old, original strains would not only cut production by approximately that amount, but would also mean the loss of seven million pounds of pork. Use of others of these "F-1" hybrids, in the field of wheat had brought about the Marquis strain which extended the wheat-growing area considerably farther north, profits of this increase in yield being sufficient to pay for all the money ever expended by all the Dominion Experimental farms in Canada.

Progress is also being made, albeit on a somewhat slower scale, in the field of fruit, where, through use of Mendelian-inspired biology it is now possible to produce harder trees, and even some that are disease-resistant. New varieties of grass are also being developed to increase the nutrient value of these for stock; and, in forestry, this selective breeding is developing trees that will make it possible to produce a full-grown tree in 40 to 50 years, or approximately half the former time.

Before commencing his talk, Dr. Anstey paid high tribute to the work of the late Dr. R. C. Palmer, and expressed the hope that he might be able to win the mantle of respect that his predecessor had been accorded in the Okanagan.

Vote of thanks to the speaker was given by Hugh Cleland.

The design of the Christmas Seal with the double-barred cross in the corner changes each year but the purpose remains the same — prevention of tuberculosis.

Early Kelowna Resident, Annie Kapusta Passes

Mrs. Annie Kapusta, one of the early links with the history of Kelowna, died in hospital October 12 at the age of 75. She was the former Mrs. Annie Krimmer and resided in Kelowna since 1907.

Born in Demesvar, Hungary, the late Mrs. Kapusta came to Canada with her former husband, Mr. Krimmer, and her children, in 1910, settling at Rouleau, Sask., where they farmed until moving to B.C. in 1906. Mr. Krimmer died in 1912.

Becoming Mrs. Kapusta some years later, she lost her second husband in death in 1930. She leaves three sons and three daughters — Jack and Nick Krimmer, both of Kelowna; John Krimmer, Mission City; Mrs. George (Annie) Kraushar, Kelowna; Mrs. K. OLIVER

The village commissioners of Oliver met last week. The Ranger Company was present to listen to the proceedings. The Rangers have asked if there is anything they might do to help Oliver and suggested that they might take on the project of erecting street signs and waste paper containers. The Ranger group was thanked and the commissioners will consider the proposed project in the spring.

The commissioners directed that the secretary of the health committee be informed that the commissioners are prepared to meet with the health committee to discuss the plans for the new building. A meeting is to be arranged as soon as possible.

HOW DO YOU FEEL RIGHT NOW?

If you never know what it is to feel off-colour and "all dragged-out" then this message is not for you. But if you are like most of us and suffer those days when it's just plain drudgery to keep going . . . then read on. The first thing to remember is that those dull, weary, under-the-weather days are probably unnecessary. Chances are the whole trouble lies in a sluggish system that needs some help. That's where Kruschen can help. Kruschen Salts contain active principles similar to those of well-known Mineral Springs and are just what lazy kidneys need to stimulate action. Kruschen is mild and sure for common constipation too. So altogether they are just the ticket for you the very next day you wake up feeling seedy. Just a tiny dose in your morning coffee. About as much as will help on a dime.

L. P. Gas Co. Purchased By Bibby Bros.

Denmark this year celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Christmas Seals sale, which they started. One cause they have for rejoicing is that they have the lowest national death rate from tuberculosis in the world.

Propane gas is stored in the bulk tanks at a normal pressure of about 85 pounds per square inch but during the warm weather pressure may reach 120 pounds.

OVER HALF A MILLION CUBIC FEET OF PROPANE GAS is the capacity of this giant welded steel tank of the L.P. Gas Co. Ltd., located on a railway spur track on Fairview road. The gleaming 18,000 gallon cylinder dwarfs the delivery truck parked along side in this recent picture of storage facilities that service the Penticton area. Although the firm is now owned and operated by Bibby Bros., one of the leading distributors of propane in the province, the familiar "L.P. Gas" truck will continue to carry the original firm name. W. J. "Bud" Bibby, one of four Bibby brothers, is the Penticton branch manager.

Local Firm Becomes Fifth Branch Of Bibby Brothers

The recent purchase of the L.P. Gas Co. Ltd., of Penticton, by Bibby Bros., marks another milestone in the short history of British Columbia's fastest growing distributor of propane gas. It is the story of four brothers who had the foresight to see the tremendous role that propane gas was destined to play in the booming years of the post war era.

The Penticton branch brings to five the number of outlets serving gas users. The first Bibby plant was established at Chilliwack in 1947 as the expanding use of propane gas in the United States "sold" the brothers on the potential demand for this modern fuel in B.C. After much investigation and study of reliable sources of supply, Bibby Bros. found they could obtain a steady supply of propane from an all-Canadian manufacturer located at Turner Valley in Alberta.

Valley. P. H. Bibby is manager of this original outlet.

The popularity of propane exceeded the expectations of the Bibby brothers during those first years of business and with the Chilliwack plant firmly established, they looked to interior B.C. for further expansion.

After a careful study of propane distribution in the interior, the city of Kamloops was chosen for the second outlet. Another huge storage tank was erected, located across the South Thompson River, next to Thompson Valley Lumber Company Limited, to assure an ample supply of gas not only to the users in Kamloops and immediate district but also the triangle from Merritt to Lytton and then back to Kamloops. L. J. Bibby is manager of the Kamloops plant.

Sales of propane appliances continued to climb and the demand for gas was augmented as new uses appeared and improved distribution effected a slash in price. Mr. A. Garceau opened the third Bibby Bros. plant at Mission City to relieve part of the load on the Chilliwack distributing point.

Keeping pace with the flourishing market in the Okanagan, Bibby Bros. opened up a warehouse and office for gas sales at Vernon with H. F. Bibby in charge of the operations.

Anxious to have an outlet for the large area in the south of the valley, Bibby Bros. welcomed the opportunity to purchase the Penticton firm of L.P. Gas Co. Limited early this year. W. J. "Bud" Bibby is manager of this newest branch.

SIXTH YEAR OF EXPANSION

When the Bibby brothers first joined forces following the last war their main interest was refrigeration work in the Chilliwack area which Pat Bibby opened in 1945. Although business was brisk in those early post war years and the refrigeration business had expanded throughout the Fraser Canyon and many inland points, still, the prospects of propane gas seemed more attractive.

The first rail car of propane gas, delivered by Western Propane Ltd., Calgary, was made to Bibby Bros. in 1948 which gave Bibby Bros. the satisfaction of having the first above ground storage tank for propane gas in the province.

Although faced with almost impossible steel restrictions, which hampered the first years directly following the war, Bibby Bros. managed to secure sufficient equipment to launch their propane distributing venture. The new undertaking proved even more successful than refrigeration for the brothers and within a short time the firm, now known as Bibby Bros., for the first time, threw all its efforts behind the sale of this hot, clean, safe and economical fuel.

In October of 1947 Bibby Bros. delivered gas to homes of their customers in 100 pound tanks only. Progressing with the industry, however, 150 bulk tanks of 150 and 250 gallon capacity were installed and by using the larger spheres were able to effect a price reduction of one-half.

Propane Doing More Jobs In Home And Business

L.P. Gas Co. Ltd. now a branch of Bibby Bros., will show no outward change in operation due to the recent change in ownership and will retain the original firm name, office and showroom location under the familiar neon gas flame at 446 Main street.

W. J. Bibby, manager of the Penticton branch, described a number of new gas appliances now on display, from gas refrigeration to heating the home with propane. Complete technical information regarding the application of gas for an ever increasing number of jobs in the home and commercial field is part of the service offered by the firm.

Doug Kilburn, well known to those who follow the V's hockey action, is in charge of the office and showroom sales. Reg Persson handles a major part of the truck delivery of gas but is also active in the sales department.

Population of the Soviet Union is estimated to be between 194,000,000 and 195,000,000.

Propane gas ordinarily is colorless but is scented by producers so it can be detected should a leak occur.

Isn't it a novelty to hear one thing which hasn't gone up in price! Christmas Seals, sold to pay for tuberculosis prevention, are the same price now as ever, a cent each.

THE FIRST ABOVE-GROUND TANK for propane gas in British Columbia was installed by Bibby Bros. at their first plant located just outside Chilliwack at Abbotsford, in 1947. This and other Bibby storage tanks now in operation assure an adequate supply of gas at all times. Weighing 24 tons empty, the huge welded steel storage cylinder required two railway flatcars to transport it to the location. Resembling a giant wiener, the tank measures 67½ feet long and is 7½ feet in diameter. A similar tank is located at Kamloops and with the recent purchase of L.P. Gas Co. Ltd., Penticton, Bibby Bros. now have a total storage capacity of 54,000 gallons of propane. Due to steel restrictions at the time this tank was ordered, it took 14 months of work until the firm received delivery of the cylinder and had it installed.

King John granted the Magna
Charter in 1215 at Runnymede.

Alberta Oil Assurance Of Ample Propane Gas

The growth in the use of propane in the United States tells its own story as the application of this quick, fast-heat fuel continues to find new outlets in the home, commercial field and in industry. As oil fields in Alberta become more numerous each passing year, the supply of propane gas for the future appears to be unlimited. Oil development also means the supply is closer at hand and it is not likely that propane will be available from B.C. cracking plants within a short space of time.

Already, improved distribution and production has brought about substantial price reductions and indications are that this will continue as efficiency of production is effected. The propane gas for users in the Okanagan is bought by Bibby Bros. from a Royaltie producer in Alberta who purchased a firm known as Western Propane Limited, Calgary.

This is what the Pacific Gas Corporation has to say about the supplier: "The propane from Western Propane Limited is the finest propane we know of and is 99.2 percent pure."

W. J. Bibby, Penticton branch manager, pointed out that propane is not a poisonous gas as is natural gas or manufactured gas. Propane does not appear in the free state, as in the case of natural gas, but is a byproduct of the destructive distillation of petroleum. Thus it derives its name and the well-known initials, LPG, liquefied petroleum gases.

With the completion of Bibby Bros. second storage plant for propane gas, located at Kamloops in 1951, the firm became second only to the mighty B.C. Electric facilities for the largest storage capacity in the province. Since then, however, Bibby Bros. have been succeeded in capacity but continue to keep pace in this rapidly growing industry.

Although B.C. Electric service the bulk of their users with manufactured gas from coal, during peak periods in the winter months the supply is supplemented with air-mixed propane in the Vancouver city gas mains and

Millions Of Trees In B.C. Threatened By Insect Plague

An insect plague is threatening millions of trees in British Columbia, so reports the federal government forest biology laboratory.

The insect, known as the bark beetle, is so destructive that the entire resources of the laboratory have been mobilized to fight the pest which is doing more damage to the forest industry than fires.

It. A. Richmond, officer in charge of the laboratory, said, the beetles are responsible for an annual loss of 100,000,000 board feet of timber. Enough to build 8,300 homes.

Mr. Richmond said the infestation is more serious in the interior of the province than on the coast.

The bark beetle is about three-eighths of an inch long. It tunnels through wood and lays pearl like eggs in the tree. Then the larvae hatch and continues to mine away at the tree. Beetles take a year to kill a tree.

Biologists had developed methods of control, but these methods are not considered strong enough to check the increase of the insects.

The only church of purely Welsh origin is the Calvinistic Methodist Church of Wales.

BIBBY BROS. BULK DELIVERY truck fleet servicing propane gas users in the Chilliwack area is shown here and a similar scene could be photographed in any of the five branch offices of the firm who cater to gas users in the Okanagan valley from distributing points in Vernon, Kamloops and with the recent purchase of L.P. Gas Co. Ltd., Penticton. The four spheres shown on the trailer platform of the truck on the left are storage tanks which are installed for individual users. These tanks are refilled from the bulk delivery truck and in many cases have replaced the bottled gas delivery of previous years.

Although storage tank pressure of propane is many times greater, the pressure in gas appliances is just half a pound per square inch.

Bulk Delivery Of Propane Popular Says W. J. Bibby

Backed by six years extensive experience in the propane gas field, W. J. "Bud" Bibby brings a wealth of first-hand "know how" to old and new users of propane gas in this community. He is fully qualified to advise on the proper application of this relatively new fuel in both commercial and residential fields.

"Propane has proved superior for many uses," said Mr. Bibby, "but in some instances the economical aspect of using gas does not work out too satisfactorily and it is part of our service to assess each case individually. The use of gas for one job may prove to be the best fuel but in a similar case another fuel may give best results. This is where the customer benefits from our experience. If we recommend gas, then we know it will do the job best at the most economical price."

In reference to the cost of gas, Mr. Bibby remarked that in recent years the improved system of distribution has brought the price of gas down to a point where in many cases it is economical for home heating.

"Although propane gas is not new to Penticton and district, the introduction of bulk delivery into the Okanagan Valley has greatly expanded the popularity of this modern fuel," said Mr. Bibby.

Its spotless white truck, emblematic of propane itself, with the 900 gallon steel tank mounted on the chassis, was the first bulk delivery vehicle operated in the Okanagan. Others were quick to follow, including Bibby Bros. in their two outlets at Kamloops and Vernon.

There is no "overnight cure" for irregularity

But there is a simple, natural answer to the common problem of irregularity due to lack of bulk

There are men and women (perhaps you're one of them) who won't let "nature take its course". THEY TRY TO SUBSTITUTE UNNATURAL "FORCING ACTION" FOR THE NATURAL REGULARITY WHICH SENSIBLE DAILY HABITS AND SUFFICIENT BULK IN THE DIET COULD PROBABLY MAINTAIN.

Many fall into the habit of using laxatives in a way laxative makers never intended. They take "big doses" willy-nilly without even reading the directions on the label.

Naturally, such over-dosing—with products intended only for over-night relief of a temporary stoppage—exerts upon the delicate digestive system an unnatural strain.

There's nothing wrong, of course, with taking laxatives occasionally. If you feel you have to take a laxative, just be sure you take it wisely—in an accurate, recommended dose.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID TAKING DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES AND TO PLACE YOUR DEPENDENCE ON NATURE. IF LACK OF BULK IN THE DIET IS YOUR TROUBLE.

In many natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits, and grains—nature grows abundant natural bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no other natural food is natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran.

Bran is nature's "laxative food" instead of a medicine. When properly processed and shredded, whole wheat bran yields smooth natural bulk that the digestive system can handle in a natural way.

The Kellogg Company has made whole wheat bran into a delicious breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran.

KELOGG'S ALL-BRAN PERFORMS NATURALLY WHAT DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES DO CHEMICALLY. IT HELPS CLEAR THE INTESTINES OF WASTE IN A NATURAL WAY. IT PROVIDES SOFT NATURAL BULK FOR EASY NATURAL ACTION.

There is no stomach upset, no clumping, no after-effect except the feeling of satisfaction and fulfillment that comes with natural, normal elimination.

To obtain lasting relief, of course, Kellogg's All-Bran must be eaten regularly. You can have it for breakfast every morning secure in the knowledge that it isn't habit-forming.

More than one million servings of Kellogg's All-Bran are consumed each day. This popularity of itself is proof that this natural laxative cereal lives up to what we say about it.

But even better proof comes from thousands of satisfied All-Bran users. They write of their own free will to tell us what natural relief they receive from eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily and drinking plenty of water.

EAT KELOGG'S ALL-BRAN EVERY MORNING FOR 10 DAYS. THEN, IF YOU'RE NOT COMPLETELY SATISFIED, SEND THE EMPTY CARTON TO THE KELOGG COMPANY, LONDON, ONTARIO—AND GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Remember—Kellogg's All-Bran has helped millions. Why not you?

Prune Shriveling Being Studied By Committee Of Agriculture

The problem of why 40 per cent of the 1953 Okanagan prune crop was culled out for shriveling and small size is being studied by a committee set up under the Okanagan Agricultural Club.

This committee consists of both dominion and provincial horticulturists and is already functioning. Difficulty in producing prunes of sufficient size and sugar content has been experienced for many years but recently the tendency of prunes to shrivel just before harvest has become more noticeable. It has been estimated that 40 per cent of the Okanagan prune crop was lost this year as a result of either small size or shrivelling. This would amount to around 300,000 cases.

PREPARE PLANS

The new committee met recently to draw up plans for attacking the problem of prune quality in general and shriveling in particular. Meteorological records are to be examined to see if any particular weather pattern could have been responsible for prune shriveling occurring throughout the Okanagan in 1948, 1950 and 1953. The possibility of imperfect fertilization (pollination) of the blossoms having an effect on the development of the fruit is to be studied. For this purpose 100 normal and 100 shrivelled prunes from each of the Salmon-Arrow, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Keremeos areas will be tested both by examination and germination of the seeds within the pits.

In addition, general observations are being made in the orchards whenever there is an opportunity. The possibility of the trouble being due to a plant disease such as a virus, fungus or bacteria is considered very unlikely though plant pathologists have not ruled this out altogether. It should be noted that viruses and bacteria which cause plant diseases are not the same as those causing human diseases so that even if this prune trouble were caused by a plant organism it would still have no possible connection with any human disorders.

Cultural conditions, i.e., irrigating, fertilizing and pruning do not appear to influence the amount of shrivel either favorably or otherwise, although good pruning and fertilizing practices and general good management are always beneficial in increasing the size of the fruit and reducing the total number of culls.

It's nice to be home for Christmas—but there are eighteen thousand Canadians who won't make it this year because they are sick in tuberculosis sanatoria. It's not the first Christmas at sanatoria for some nor the last for some others. Let's try to cut down the numbers of those to whom this happens by preventing tuberculosis. Start now by helping the Christmas Seal sale, carried on to get funds for TB prevention.

Our Town

By Jack Scott

TIME OF STRESS

The psychiatrists say that most young people go through a period, usually in their mid-teens, when they tend to develop a sharply critical attitude toward their parents, sometimes to the point of repugnance.

Dr. William C. Menninger, in his fine book, "You and Psychiatry," explains this in part by suggesting that the young person tends to see in his or her parents "a series of grotesque images or caricatures" of themselves. And is thus repelled.

In most cases this passes as the youngster develops maturity. Many fathers and mothers have gone through a trying period when their children have seemed scornful or have tried to re-educate them.

Part of it, too, is the instinctive urge to break away from the home and while there are exceptions most parents must accept the fact that the time will come when their children will be lost to them and a new relationship will take its place. This is why mothers cry at weddings.

These thoughts are inspired by a case I heard discussed the other night. It involved a young woman of 21 or 22 who had been away from home for three years, completing her education on a scholarship, and who, on her return, looked at her parents with new and somewhat unfriendly eyes.

She had invited some young friends to dinner and was shocked and ashamed to find herself embarrassed by her parents' table manners.

For one thing the mother was jumping up and down from the table. When one of the guests had finished her main course, it seems, Mom would grab her plate, hurry out to the kitchen and bring in the dessert. There were a number of other little things that the girl, who had acquired the niceties of dinner-table behavior in her time at school, seemed to have exaggerated out of all proportion.

Later that evening the girl spoke of these matters to her parents. The mother, it seems, was willing to listen to this, but the father got angry and stomped from the room and there was a new atmosphere of tension in what apparently had been a happy home.

I don't suppose this kind of thing happens very often, but it does illustrate the hypersensitivity of many young people.

So often the children who criticize the manners, speech, dress or any of the habits of their parents forget that they are sampling their maturity in a new kind of world with a new set of standards.

Very often too, the children have been exposed to a strata of society one or more levels above that of their parents. In this case, in particular, it was clear that the young lady had moved about, completing her education and getting her veneer only because of the sacrifices of the mother and father.

What that girl will have to do, of course, is to adjust some taps. She'll have to turn off the one that loses this flood of sensitivity and turn on full the one producing her love and admiration for her parents.

She ought to know that guests, if they're worth knowing at all, are a good deal less concerned with "manners" than they are with the more important things in human relationships.

In reality, the picture of Mom bustling off the dinner plates isn't anything for shame, but pride, and instead of pointing out that this isn't recommended by Emily Post, a smart daughter would jump up and give her a hand.

A long time from now, when that mother is no longer around the girl will remember this as one of those wonderful memories of her mother and will never understand her narrow-mindedness now.

Government Employees' Association, representing over 9,000 members employed by the Provincial Government, is holding its 10th annual convention at Vancouver in the Hotel Georgia on Friday and Saturday. Mayor Hume of Vancouver has consented to officially welcome the association's 104 delegates to the convention. The provincial secretary, the Hon. Wesley D. Black, will be the guest speaker at the convention luncheon on Friday, October 30, to be attended by cabinet ministers, delegates, and fraternal delegates from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the B.C. Teachers' Federation, the Joint Council of Public Employees, and the Washington Federation of State Employees. A distinguished visitor to the convention on Saturday, will be Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

MALE CHORUS AND GUEST ARTIST TO APPEAR AT UNITED CHURCH

The noted Trail Male Chorus and soloist Kathleen Rose Sinclair, will stage a one-night concert at Penticton United Church November 5, under the auspices of the A.O.V.S. club of the Church. It is scheduled to get underway at 8:30 p.m.

Organized in 1929 as the "C.M. and S. Glee Party", the choir has played an important part in the musical life of Trail and district. In 1931, the choir entered the musical festival at Vancouver and won second place in a field of five entries.

The present chorus combines men of several nationalities and a wide range of ages. It is essentially an organization of men from all walks of life who have banded together for the sole purpose of singing and enjoying the fellowship that singing fosters.

It is interesting to note that the present director, Hans Fogt Dohmsmidt, has been with the Trail Male Chorus since 1937 and the accompanist, Gwendolyn Kay, started with the choir during the same year. Mr. Fogt Dohmsmidt studied music in Copenhagen. He was a member of, and subsequently directed, the Icelandic Symphony Orchestra. He conducted theatre and symphony orchestras in the larger Canadian cities, also operas and ballet orchestras.

Soloist Kathleen Sinclair has received her training from some of the finest Canadian and American teachers. Born in Saskatchewan, she received her schooling and early musical training in British Columbia, having studied piano, violin and singing.

She has sung a number of times on the CBC both in the east and the west, and is a seasoned star of Singing Stars of Tomorrow and Vancouver's Theatre Under The Stars.

The new Continental Can plant in Burnaby, will turn out 150 million cans a year. Maximum production eventually will be 750 million a year.

Jaycees Plan Big Convention Here In 1954

Although next May is seven months hence, time is already growing short as far as Penticton Junior Chamber of Commerce is concerned. Because next May, Penticton will be bulging with representatives from all parts of British Columbia, as Jaycees converge on this city for their provincial convention.

"We promise you more in '54" is the slogan local Jaycees will attempt to live up to, after having promised a bigger and better "do" in Penticton at the Jaycees' convention this year.

First of a regular monthly bulletin on convention plans has already been dispatched to all Jaycee clubs throughout the province. May 26, 27 and 28 are tentative dates for the convention.

General convention chairman is Ivor Haddleton; convention secretary, Frank Hartigan; accommodation, Tommy Walker; catering, Mordecai McNally; entertainment, Bert Dean; treasurer, Bill Holmes and finance, Joe Van Winkelaar.

All parents and friends of the group are urged to attend.

Parents Invited To Attend Scout Meeting Nov. 16

Annual meeting of the Okanagan South District of the Boy Scouts Association will be held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Penticton, on Monday, November 16 at 8 p.m.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting. Scouting in this area is on the way up. Dr. Don Fisher of Summerland has recently accepted the post of District Scoutmaster in charge of training, and it is felt that his help will do much to stimulate interest with both Scouts and Scouters.

Election of officers to carry on the work of the district council for the next year will take place and the public is urged to lend its support. Parents are requested to show appreciation of the work the Scouters are doing for their sons by giving up one evening to attend this important meeting.

The Scouters devote at least one evening each week to Scout work.

The Women's World

To make a meal that will satisfy your sportsman, make sure the venison roast is well-larded, delicately seasoned and carefully cooked.

Venison

In preparing venison, remember to remove all the fat, as it is unpalatable. However, the meat will be dry unless you add lard or butter when cooking. Venison steaks or cutlets, a little less than an inch thick, should be brushed with olive oil and broiled close to the flame. You can pot roast venison without soaking it by inserting a clove of garlic and a bay leaf in a small slit of the roast, adding plenty of fat, and cooking it on the top of the stove for several hours at low heat. After it has roasted for 2 hours, add 1 cup water and continue cooking and adding water until tender.

For a super-supper dish, take a saddle or haunch of venison and cover with a marinade of 2/3 cheap red cooking wine and 1/3 water with mustard seed, crushed clove of garlic, and salt added. Let stand in this for about two days turning the meat from time to time. Remove and lard generously with salt pork. Sear in a hot oven, then reduce heat to 325 degrees F. and baste frequently. Cook about 25 minutes to the pound. If you want a superb gravy, add a small glass of red wine to the roast pan and boil until it is reduced one third. Add a glass of currant juice and when it is melted, stir in 1 cup sour cream. Strain and serve separately. Food for a king!

Reports On Activities At Regular Meeting Of Senior Hospital Auxiliary

The Recipe Corner

Experiments are currently being made to find out what determines success in pre-packaging fresh produce.

TEST RESULTS

These tests showed that successful pre-packaging of vegetables for consumers depends not only on the initial quality of the vegetables and the container used, but also on the proper ventilation of the package and on adequate refrigeration.

Proper ventilation of the containers or bags helps to retain the original quality of the vegetables and to delay spoilage. Refrigeration was found to be essential, particularly with the vegetables that spoil easily. This included cooling the vegetables before packaging, and also refrigerated storage after they are packaged.

To insure top eating quality, there's one thing left for you to do in your home. Keep the packaged produce cold, and use, as soon as possible.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Penticton Ladies' Senior Hospital Auxiliary held last Tuesday in the Red Cross Centre with the president, Mrs. Hugh P. Barr, conducting the session various matters of interest were discussed and several comprehensive monthly reports presented.

Mrs. Barr submitted the report on the recent successful annual Chrysanthemum Tea held in the Masonic Hall under the sponsorship of the auxiliary executive. She expressed pleasure at the many beautiful blooms donated for the tea room decorations and for those which were sold to add considerably to the tea proceeds. Mrs. H. H. Wickett was winner of the bulbs which had been donated for the door prize. A vote of thanks was also extended for the bread donated for the tea by the Canadian Bakers.

Mrs. J. A. Rodell, convener of sewing and of the children's clothing booth at the hospital reported that over fifty-three dollars had been realized from the sale of garments in the booth during the summer months. Her work group report showed six dressing gowns and twelve pairs of slippers made and donated to the pediatrics ward at the hospital.

The members of the senior auxiliary will assist in the selling of tickets for the Frigidarium cooking school to be held in the high school auditorium on November 2 under the sponsorship of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. R. G. Gregory was appointed delegate to the British Columbia Hospital Auxiliaries' convention being held in Vancouver tomorrow and Friday. Mrs. J. H. Collett will also attend the convention.

The president expressed deep regret at the loss of two members of the Senior Hospital Auxiliary, the late Mrs. Fred G. Pye, of this city, and Mrs. William Munro, of Naramata.

Following the adjournment of the meeting a most interesting and informative address on the culture of African violets was presented by Mrs. Harold Nicholl. The serving of refreshments brought the session to a conclusion.

The average housewife opens 1600 different food packages a year, say researchers of Continental Can. About 600 of these are metal, and the rest paper or cardboard.

Garnish soup with garlic croutons: Tasty topping for tomato soup is a sprinkling of garlic croutons. To make these, heat a small clove of garlic (minced) in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Then brown about 1 cup of bread cubes in the butter till it is all absorbed. Pass a bowl of croutons, at the table. And each one can garnish his own soup.

TO KEEP SOFT and chewy cookies fresh, keep an apple in the cookie jar. This keeps them moist as well as adding flavor and aroma.

Designers Favor Tweed, Leather, Knit Fashions

There's a new trio appearing as a fashion act this fall that promises to soar to great heights of popularity! Individually, each one of this trio enjoys success, and together they're nothing short of terrific!

This noteworthy threesome is made of tweeds, leather and knits.

Leather trims appear throughout the fashion showings and are used in the most imaginative manner. Soft cape and kid leathers have fashion preference over suede.

There are leather-trimmed skirts, a smart leather weskit is terrific!

Accessory touches in leather include separate collars and belts to go with tweeds and knits, leather hats, and a wide variety of leather jackets.

Theseout skirts are particularly fashion-important with tweeds and knitted dresses. Campus jackets are mannish in styling; one of the newest ones being a leather shirt jacket.

The new-for-'53 tweeds are tremendously exciting! Stand-outs in popularity are the herringbone weaves, especially black and white, the multi-colored nubbed donegals, bulky tweeds, particularly in slim skirts and, as always, the imported luxury tweeds.

Knitted fashions have never been so varied or so newsworthy. Foremost are the bulky, jumbo knits, newest looking of all knitwear. Truly high fashion are the jumbo shaker knit long coats, a distinctive newcomer in the fashion field!

Death rates are one yardstick for measuring progress against disease. Sickness or mortality rates are another. By the yardstick of death rates we're doing very well against tuberculosis—but sickness rates are a different story. We're not preventing sickness from tuberculosis as much as we should. Now is the time for each of us to take a hand by supporting the Christmas Seal sale, carried on to gain funds for tuberculosis prevention.

Okanagan Telephone Company Completes $100,000 Changeover To Toll Dialling System

The Okanagan Telephone Company has now completed one of the final phases of its 3-year, $100,000 expansion and modernization program, first started in May 1950, with the completed installation and testing of its operator toll dialling equipment.

The conversion of its long distance service to this faster, direct calling means of communication marks another "first" for the company as it is the first installation of its type anywhere in British Columbia. The modernization of its toll system, including the purchase and installation of automatic switching and toll carrier equipment and toll circuit changes was carried out by the company at a cost of close to $100,000.

Work leading up to this final stage was carried out by the company over the past six months with installations of the 2 V.F. (voice frequency) automatic switching equipment being made in the Pentiction, Kelowna, Vernon and Salmon Arm exchange offices in that order. As installation work was completed in each of these cities inter-change long distance lines were cut-over to the new service, thus the modernization to operator toll dialling was carried out in progressive stages. The equipment was supplied and installed by Siemens Bros. (Canada) Ltd. This firm had previously converted the company's three major exchanges at Kelowna, Pentiction and Vernon to dial telephone service.

Operator toll dialling follows closely on the conversion of local telephone service in most of the company's exchanges to automatic operation and makes this latest advancement in long distance service available to all telephone subscribers throughout the company's system, making faster, direct-calling service available on all out-of-town calls.

The 2 V.F. automatic switching equipment located in the four exchanges now handles the routing and switching of all long distance calls and where, in many cases, as many as four operators were required to set up and complete a call, one operator, at the originating exchange can now complete this call with a considerable saving in time, thus faster calling results. In addition, the operators previously required to assist in setting up and routing calls are now free to give attention to calls originating in their own exchange — thus a greater volume of calls can now be completed daily.

The long distance operator now dials the number requested at the exchange and to further speed the placing of such a call "impulse sender" keyboards have been installed on all switchboards — the called number is punched out rather than dialled with a resulting saving in time of 5 to 6 seconds per call. The new system also gives the operator more positive supervision over all calls as signal lamps on the switchboard, controlled by the called party telephone, indicate the completion of any call together with an accurate calculation of the elapsed time of the actual conversation.

As an example, a call placed from Pentiction to Vernon 4856 the Pentiction operator would plug into a circuit to Kelowna, dial two prefix digits "00" indicating to the switching equipment at Kelowna that the call is to be extended to Vernon. The Pentiction operator then dials the digits 4856 so causing the dial equipment in Vernon to make connection to the wanted telephone.

If the call was to an exchange outside of the Okanagan Telephone system, say to 4856 at Kamloops. After the call has been switched to Vernon a further two digits will be dialled by the Pentiction operator that will cause the call to be subsequently switched in Vernon to Kamloops. The Kamloops operator answers and connects the call to the wanted telephone 4856. The elapsed time to complete this call is 10 seconds, "tone signals" heard by the operator, indicate if the called phone is busy or free.

Intricate automatic switching equipment on the receipt of the first two digit impulses, searches for, selects, and connects to the correct toll circuit to the called exchange, the final four digits selects and rings the called telephone at the distant point. A subscriber placing a long distance call costing 30 cents actually uses equipment valued at $65,000 to complete his call.

Although the telephone company has made the first installation of this kind in B.C., it is so designed that it will tie into future installations made by other telephone companies and form a part of the nation-wide

The Crow and the Pitcher

A THIRSTY CROW found a Pitcher with some water in it, but so little was there that, try as she might, she could not reach it with her beak, and it seemed as though she would die of thirst within sight of the remedy. At last she hit upon a clever plan. She began dropping pebbles into the Pitcher, and with each pebble the water rose a little higher until at last it reached the brim, and the knowing bird was enabled to quench her thirst.

Encouraging Market Report Given By B.C. Tree Fruits Governor To Growers At Pentiction BCFGA

Gratifying information for soft fruit growers was contained in a message given to members of the Pentiction local of the B.C. FGA by Albert Millar, member of the Board of Governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

Payment for apricots has already been sent to packinghouses and figures for the total Yaki-mines pool was particularly good, said Mr. Millar. Despite the gloomy forebodings by some in the industry, the number of claims in this pool amounted to only $823, an exceedingly low figure when it is realized that the maturity was stepped up, necessitating changes in thinking and operation all along the line.

"I feel that there is a future market there, but it will take a few years to work it up, as people in that area are not accustomed to apricots. There is a future market there, that can take care of the surplus as it comes along, but the fruit must be of the very best."

Next, the governor spoke of the cherry pool, pointing out that few had gone to the processors this year. The pool is a highly satisfactory one, much better than that for 1952. Tentative prices were given, but final figures cannot be published for a few days yet, he said. Quality of the cherries was such that they could be pushed on the market, and a good return could be obtained for the producers.

COMPETITION KEEN
Speaking of peaches, he said that competition in this field is keen, and it had been found that it costs, for transportation, 56 cents to lay a box of peaches into Winnipeg. Fortunately, through the exceedingly hot weather the peaches from Ontario were quite small, while those from B.C. were particularly large, and this had enabled them to make more sales than would otherwise be the case.

SORRY NOT MORE TO SEE
"I think you will agree this is a nice pool, and the prices are not to be sneezed at," continued

Mr. Millar. "We are sorry there were not more apricots to sell."

The last annual convention stressed the idea that effort should be made to sell more 'cots to Eastern Canada, he added, stating that considerable effort had been made in this direction, and 5,000 packs sold there, as well as considerable advertising and publicity carried out. Reception of these had been very good, and the fruit had been received in good condition.

Fortunately, through the exceedingly hot weather the peaches from Ontario were quite small, while those from B.C. were particularly large, and this had enabled them to make more sales than would otherwise be the case.

SORRY NOT MORE TO SEE
"I think you will agree this is a nice pool, and the prices are not to be sneezed at," continued

However, expanding the peach deal this far east could only be carried so far.

Answering a question from Mrs. Leslie Balla, Mr. Millar said that transportation of peaches, by truck from Ontario to Winnipeg is but a fraction of the cost to B.C. growers.

Reminiscing for a moment, Mr. Millar said that the quality of Okanagan peaches and other soft fruit had been going downhill for several years, and, in 1952, had been the worst in recent records at least.

"But this year we have regained most of this lost ground. The reason is that the growers apparently have realized that they must produce better fruit, and that the fruit has, in consequence, been of much higher standard, particularly in eye-appearance."

COMMITTEE PRAISED
"Then, too, there has been a committee at work studying the soft fruit problem. They have brought down some regulations that have improved both the size and maturity of fruit shipped. We have to thank our horticulturists and the staff of the Dominion experimental station, and many others for the aid given in setting up these new regulations."

"Also, during this 1953 season, the shippers did an excellent job. They went to a good deal of trouble to see to it that better fruit went to market. However, we must remember that there is a human element, and that mistakes will be made, and slips occur, and there will still be occasions when fruit is going to get out that is below standard. But, take it all in all, we are making great strides."

"And, in answer to the pessimists, I can say that those who cry 'it can't be done' are basing their forebodings on a fallacy. It can be done, and it will."

Mr. Millar paid high tribute to the work of E. Britton and his committee who had gone into the packinghouses and had not only been able to convince managers, packers and sorters, alike of the necessity of the new regulations on maturity, but had actually made themselves welcome in carrying out these stringent new rulings.

"It is in our interest to carry on this work, and I hope that it will continue to be a growing force in seasons to come," he said.

RECAPS ON PROPHECY
Turning to prunes, Mr. Millar said that the marketing of these is just about over. He said that he wished to recount on a statement he had made recently to the Southern District Council, regarding the number of claims. He and others had felt these would be considerable, because of the condition of the fruit, which, owing to weather conditions, was not up to par.

However, growers had been discriminating in their packing, and the fruit had been sold on markets that were receptive with the result that very few claims were made.

APPLES
Estimates for the North American continent for apple production for 1953 had been for 95,000,000 boxes, three million more than last year. However, events were showing that not only is the overall figure too large, but that production in both Washington and B.C. is below what had been anticipated.

When the speaker started discussing the McIntosh crop, he was soon bombarded with a barrage of questions. Doubts of the necessity and reason for marketing so many Cee grade Macs—which covered 40 percent of the crop of this variety—were indicated.

Condition of some of the fruit, and concrete evidence that it was far below standard was forthcoming. This was turned over to Mr. Millar, and will be fully investigated, and a report made to the next meeting of the Pentiction local.

NEW CARTON
Mr. Millar said further that this year a new carton had been developed and tried out for Macs, partly to cut down packing costs, particularly on expensive box shooks, and also to meet with the needs of the market. The new container, which does not require the wrapping of fruit, had resulted in many letters of commendation. Some of these were read out by Mr. Millar, general tone of the letters being that the fruit had arrived in excellent condition, and that it had proven much easier to market. Asked about costs, Mr. Millar said that it is a few cents cheaper per unit than the wooden crate.

W. H. Morris brought up the question of packing of Golden Delicious, saying he had originally been glad to hear that it was to be put into a special container. "It is the finest of our dessert apples," said this former member of the board of governors. Later, however, on visiting the packinghouse, he had been horrified to see some of this soft, delicate fruit, that will not stand rough handling, being crammed into ordinary boxes."

Explanation for this was given by Frank McDonald, who said that only the smallest and lightest sizes, which could be adapted to the new special crate, were being so packed.

GOOD SEASON AHEAD
Speaking of apples generally, Mr. Millar said that while fruit is not yet moving out as fast as it did in the same period of 1952, as the eastern scarcity, existing then, is absent now, he felt, "we have the prospect of a good season ahead of us."

In conclusion, Mr. Millar spoke of recent developments in truck transportation, stating that more lines are now using refrigeration of the dry-ice type, and that fruit is moving in these containers at temperatures between 38 and 58 degrees.

"We can, in this way, put fruit on the market in really excellent condition. I think we shall continue with this type of transport," Mr. Millar concluded.

WHITE DEER

Deer are no exception to a condition occurring among all birds and mammals, including man. Albinism, however, is as uncommon among deer as other species, feathered and furred, who at rare intervals produce a white specimen when the dominant color of their kind is a darker hue. It would appear that the white-tailed deer is more subject to albinism than other members of the family, at least more are reported from time to time. Albino moose and elk are seemingly quite rare. Albino caribou are occasionally observed.

Wallboard Dress Up

Old plaster walls are often covered with wallboard, plasterboard or insulating board. Small sheets of fibre board, 1/2 inch thick, are generally used, with the edges beveled slightly or rounded to form a V joint.

The joints should be arranged in a symmetrical pattern on furring strips spaced 12 or 16 inches center to center, and nailed through the plaster to the joists. Large sheets of insulating board may be used but the joints should be cut to show a slight V so that any expansion of the joint which may occur after placing may not be too noticeable.

This can be done by slightly beveling the lower edge with sandpaper over a block. Do not attempt to conceal the joints with filler, as the light movement of the boards will cause the cracks to open. Gypsum wall board may be used and the joints taped, but it is difficult to entirely conceal the joints and nail heads. Plywood panels and beading (milled strips used to conceal joints) may be used to advantage.

When using any commercially prepared sheets to cover an old plaster ceiling, the joints should not be bevelled as powdered plaster will continually be sifting down through them. Instead, the joints should be of the tongue and groove or the shiplap type.

Superfluous embellishments have been avoided on the exterior of this house yet the general effect is one of artistic design. The exterior finish calls for stucco with wood siding on the gables while brick is used to good advantage below the window sills and for other ornamental purposes.

A four-bedroom house, it is well suited to meet the needs of a growing family, as the two large bedrooms and the future bath or sewing room upstairs can be left unfinished until they are required. The stairwell is located near the center of the house, a practical engineering feature which is popular with both house-builders and home-owners alike. The gable over the front first floor bedroom also shelters the front porch.

The lattice work on the front porch matches the windows which have the lights separated horizontally.

The floor area of the house, which was designed by H. C. Jarvis and associate architect A. Martineau, both of Ottawa, is 1,511 square feet and the cubic measurement is 23,500 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 32 feet by 31 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 401, are available at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

New Ideas In Town Planning

A University of B.C. industrial planner has called for a new concept of community planning that would bring heavy industry into residential areas.

UBC instructor Ira M. Robinson told the Greater Vancouver Metropolitan Industrial Development Commission that with technological changes in production processes "more and more industries are becoming less and less of a noxious and nuisance character."

"We should not take a static concept with respect to the adverse effects of having industries located near residences," he warned. "There are many types of industrial plants we can live with very happily and, with the recent advances in architecture, they would be an asset to a residential district."

He suggested that scientific developments have now made it possible to apply objective standards to industrial performance.

In other words, the one-time Chicago area planner said, zoning regulations could be based on a maximum amount of noise that would come from a specific plant.

The remarks arose in a talk to the commission in which Robinson warned the industrialists against a "blind booster philosophy" in their attempts to lure industry to the Greater Vancouver area.

"The commission must first determine whether the community should attract and support new industry, what the effects would be on existing industry, and what are the most effective measures of inducing industry to come to the community," Robinson said.

He warned that an unplanned or unwarranted seeking of new industries could lead to overloaded facilities and services.

He added that available land might be poorly suited to industry and be better devoted to recreation and housing.

A block of hardwood is notched to fit around the smooth side of the jack, to which it is bolted about six inches from the top. CONDITION AND KIND OF FLOOR MAIN FACTORS IN LAYING TILE

What about this business of putting down a tile floor? Is it as easy as the tile manufacturers say it is? Or is it as difficult as some of those installation diagrams seem to indicate?

The answer is somewhere between the two, but even if it were possible to give a specific reply, it might not apply to any particular house. Here is the reason: the degree of work attached to laying a floor tile depends on the kind and condition of the floor on which the tile is being laid. So it can be seen that it is much more than a matter of skill, although preparation is another matter.

In selecting the kind of tile, it is imperative that the dealer knows whether the underfloor is wood or concrete, whether it is an upper floor or ground level floor, or whether it is in the basement. For instance, most rubber and linoleum tiles should not be laid over a concrete basement floor. Therefore, before deciding on whether to use asphalt, cork, rubber, linoleum or one of the plastic tiles, it is best to be sure that the proper type is used for the particular job.

HOW TO PREPARE
Now, about that preparation. First, a wood floor, it must be even; it must be firm; it must be free of all dirt, dust, wax, grease and loose or scaly paint. Also, it should be of double construction, that is, a subfloor and a finished floor. If the floor is of single construction, it should be covered with a layer of plywood one-quarter inch thick or a layer of hardboard three-sixteenths of an inch thick. This covering can also be used over a floor of double construction when it is in very bad condition.

When a double floor is in fairly good condition, nail down any boards that squeak, fill holes and cracks with a wood filler and plane or sand any irregularities. Even though the regular floor has plywood covering or is the regular floor, it should be covered with a 15-pound asphalt felt paper. This felt paper is held firmly to the wood with linoleum cement. Spread the cement with a trowel and lay the paper so that the edges butt and do not overlap. If possible, it is best to use some sort of rolling device, even a rolling pin, to be sure that the felt paper adheres to the wood at all points. The felt covering is not necessary if hardboard has been put down.

USE CEMENT
On concrete floors, such as are found in basements, all holes, cracks and joints should be filled. A quick drying, ready-mixed cement can be used.

Or a homemade mixture of one part Portland cement and three parts of dry sand will do. Before laying the tiles the concrete must be free of all dirt, grease and paint, which brings up a point about the preparation job being so much easier for some persons than for others. If the concrete floor has paint on it, the home owner has quite a job of getting it off.

REMOVE PAINT
One way is to spread sawdust over the floor, wet it down thoroughly with a solution of lye and water and let it stand overnight. When the solution is flushed off with a garden hose the next day, the paint will come with it. While effective, this method requires extreme care, since lye can burn the skin. Rubber gloves must be used. Also, after the paint is off the concrete, the floor must be washed with a mixture of vinegar and water to neutralize any alkalinity left by the lye. A simpler and safer method of removing the paint is with a sanding machine, which can be rented. It is best to use sandpaper with a very open coat, otherwise it will have very little effect on the concrete.

Some tile materials require a coat of primer on the concrete floor to provide a bond for the tile cement. This primer must usually be put on a day or two before the actual installation of the tiles. It is always best to check with a dealer to see if the tile needs a primer on the concrete.

Note — next week this column will continue discussion on tile floors with special emphasis on how the tile should be laid.

Building Queries

Q. Our roof is green and red, slightly more green. Can you suggest a suitable house color scheme that would really stand out? We do not want white, grey or yellow.

A. Suggest you paint all walls and trim in grey-green and the front door red.

Q. Our building is not sound-proof. Would acoustic tile placed on both sides of bedroom and bathroom walls reduce or eliminate sound transmission?

A. First, try to cut down the sound level within the rooms. Drapes, rugs, upholstered furnishings are effective where you can use them. Secondly, cut down the wall's ability to transmit sound. Rockwool within the wall is helpful but difficult to install in existing walls. You might apply one-half inch fire-board to one side of the wall and replaster over this. Acoustic tile could be cemented on but would be hard to keep clean. Better to use sheet cork, cemented to the wall and painted, wiped or shellacked.

Summerland Ass'n Hopes To Send 15 Guides To Meeting

SUMMERLAND — Trying to find ways and means to send fifteen guides to the patrol leaders' conference at Princeton on November 13-15, occupied part of the time of the Guide Association meeting last Thursday afternoon, in the Youth Centre. Transportation costs seem to be high in Guide circles, and the association is anxious to have the girls attend the Princeton meetings.

Mrs. A. R. Dunsdon, the president was in the chair, with Mrs. Leslie Rumball, acting secretary in Mrs. James Marshall's absence.

Capt. Mrs. Alex Inch reported on the summer camp held near Kelowna, attended by ten Summerland Guides, and enjoyed greatly.

Mrs. M. Henker gave a resume of the division meeting held recently at Penticton, and Mrs. Walter Toews, Brown Owl, told of Brownie activities.

Mrs. K. McIntosh is division commissioner for Peachland-Summerland. It was noted.

Members decided to make further efforts to have more Guide mothers attend the association meetings, since it is felt that they are the logical ones to bolster the association attendance and work.

Tuberculosis death rates are falling rapidly in some countries, one of which is Canada. Unfortunately sickness rates are not falling as fast because prevention has not kept pace with cure. Summerland AOTS Hold Regular Meeting

SUMMERLAND — A splendid round-table discussion took place following the regular monthly dinner meeting of the AOTS last Thursday in St. Andrew's hall.

Rev. C. O. Richmond led in asking if club members were doing the things expected of them in living up to the ideals and name of "Among Others That Serve". Lively talk showed the interest and thought of members in the worthwhile service club.

The Women's Federation of St. Andrew's church prepared and served the dinner, convened by Mrs. W. F. Ward, assisted by the president, Mrs. Rex Chapman, Mrs. Lydia Johnston, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Mrs. C. Budd, and Miss Ada Cochran.

Fire Chiefs Ass'n Warns Against Ad Salesmen

A letter from the public relations committee of the B.C. Fire Chiefs' Association contains a warning against people soliciting advertising for various "fire magazines" without authorization. Addressed to Fire Chief Merv Foreman, the letter requests his cooperation by placing the matter before local merchants, and is as follows:

It has been brought to the attention of this association that there have, from time to time, been parties, going through this province, soliciting advertisements for "Fire Magazines" of various names who have let it be known either directly or by inference that they have the endorsement of various fire chiefs' organizations. We understand that a good many business people have given them advertisements thinking that they were helping the local fire chief and/or fire department.

We, the committee on public relations of the British Columbia fire chiefs' association, would like to advise your members that no person or persons have been endorsed or approved by us nor have they been given the consent of this association to act for them in such a matter.

We would like to advise your members, that should any person or persons approach them for advertising stating or implying that they have the endorsement, approval or consent of this association to solicit such advertisements, it would be well if your members asked to see such credentials before doing business with them. If such credentials are not produced we would be very pleased if the local fire chief was advised at once.

We feel that we are not in any way interested in these parties soliciting advertising as long as they do not bring the British Columbia fire chiefs' association into the matter either directly or by inference.

The only time your members might be approached for advertising in connection with fire chiefs' work would be if your local fire department were hosts to the annual fire chiefs' college of this association. Your advertisements would appear in the programme booklet of the fire college and would help to defray the expenses of said fire college. This booklet would be prepared and published in your locality.

Osoyoos Man Sentenced To Six Months In Oakalla For Burglary

An Osoyoos man, 39-year-old Frank Edward Smith, is serving six months at Oakalla and has been placed on the interdiction list, following his plea of guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and theft of some 20 cases of beer from the Osoyoos Canadian Legion. He appeared in county court before Judge M. M. Colquhoun.

Smith had elected for jury trial when first charged, but was successful in applying for re-election to speedy trial before a judge alone.

A voluntary statement to police by the convicted man was produced in court and told of drinking on June 19. Later that night, the admission said, he drove to the Legion building, saw a car and walked over to it; went by the Legion window, kicked it in, got the beer and loaded it on to his truck.

After driving over Anarchist mountain to a campsite, where the beer was cached, Smith fell asleep, the statement went on, and when he awoke he realized what he had done and was torn between fear and conscience, because of a previous criminal record.

The convicted man later contacted a Legion steward and told him where the beer could be found and they proceeded to the cache, court was told.

The statement went on to say that it was while he was in Keremeos later on, that Smith heard he was wanted by the police, and after driving to Oliver he contacted the Osoyoos detachment of the RCMP.

Other evidence disclosed that the man had been under strain over personal problems and that previous offences had occurred following a session of drinking. The interdiction order was suggested by defence counsel, A. D. C. Washington, who also pleaded for leniency. Crown counsel was F. C. Christian.

MORE ELK TODAY

Although the white man can usually be blamed for destroying forests and wildlife, there are some cases where trees and wildlife have actually benefitted from the white man's influence.

Take the elk of British Columbia for example. Many years before the coming of the white man, elk, who had once roamed the province in abundance, were almost entirely wiped out by other severe winters or a series of epidemics and there were only a few surviving herds when the first pioneers settled this province. Through early protection measures the herds have increased to such an extent that it is now possible to hunt them.
